COUNTY OFFICERS ELECT.

The People of Washoe have chosen their servants to carry on the county government for the coming two years. They expect fair treatment, and demand that the county business shall be faithfully and honestly performed. This county, after January 1st, will be a judicial district by itself, and Hon. Wm. M. Boardman has been selected to preside over that department. He was elected by a majority that pays him a high compliment, and he will, no doubt, prove to the people that their confidence was not misplaced. Mr. Boardman has the law to guide him in the faithful discharge of his important duties. He is not an excitable or revengeful man. He is patient, and if lawyers storm it will not stir him up, but when they are through he will give them the law. His experience as a practitioner and qualifications as a man fit him for the Bench, and with his knowledge of the law, litigants are sure of fair treatment—whichever way he decides a case they will know that his decision is sustained by the statutes.

P. N. Marker will look after Washoe's interests in the State Senate. Mr. Marker is well posted as to what legislation is required, and will zealously guard the State's interests by every vote he casts. Messrs. Varian, Fish and Price will look after matters in the lower house. Mr. Varian is a lawyer of distinction, and thoroughly acquainted with the duties of a law maker. His voice will always be heard on the side of any question arising that is calculated to benefit the people. Mr. Fish is a gentleman of large business experience and will make a good Assemblyman. Mr. Price has represented this county in the Assembly several times and has always been faithful to the people. No county in the State will be more ably represented in the Legislative halls than will Washoe.

The selection of J. F. Emmitt for Sheriff is a splendid one, and is an appropriate recognition of manly worth. Where duty calls him there he will be found, and unless his record in the past is a lie Washoe will never have reason to regret intrusting the important duties of that department of the county government to J. F. Emmitt.

R. B. Osburn has filled the Clerk's office for two years and, as far as we know, has given excellent satisfaction, and his re-election is undoubtedly a deserved compliment.

Jno. B. Williams is still the county's Recorder and his record in the past is all that elected him this time, for his opponent was a very worthy gentleman and in every way qualified to perform the duties of that office.

Dan Boyd can probably manipulate the strings to the county's money-bag as long as he chooses so to do. His honesty and attention to the duties of his office, coupled with his Republican principles, are a sufficient guarantee that he is the right man in the right place.

C. H. Stoddard, the newly elected Assessor, is a young man well acquainted with the duties of his office and will no doubt make an excellent Assessor. He is very competent and thoroughly honest; so tax-payers may expect to have the work in that department well conducted.

John F. Alexander was raised in this county and educated at the California University. Since his admission to the bar he has been connected with Hon. Wm. M. Boardman in the practice of law. He is capable of filling the office of District Attorney, and will show to the people that they acted wisely when they selected him.

Messrs. Fogus and Sawyer have been called upon to look after every department of the county government as Commissioners. They are both intelligent men and have had experience in public matters. They will conduct the county business intelligently, faithfully and honestly.

Rev. W. R. Jenvey is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of Superintendent of Public Schools, and if he don't make a good one the GAZETTE is mistaken. He is an enthusiast in matters of education, and has had large experience as a teacher. The public schools will be greatly benefited by having Mr. Jenvey connected with them.

We believe good men have been selected to fill the different offices, and the GAZETTE will give them a generous support when right, and just criticism when wrong.

HOW WILL THEY ACT?

The whole world will note with intense interest every movement of that "grand old Democratic party" that has made so many promises during recent years. It is to be hoped that some of them may be redeemed; but the experience of other days gives no well-founded reason for such a hope. It never originated any grand benefit for the people, nor even suggested one; but it is possible it may profit by the lessons of the past, and start anew to make a record of which the nation may not be ashamed. It will control the next House of Representatives, certainly, and will therefore be credited with all legislation, good or bad, that may originate in that body. There is the same element of patriotism in the Union that existed in 1860, and if Democrats do not make a proper showing during the next two years, the Republicanism that was dormant on Tuesday will become active in 1884 and oust them, as at Lincoln's first election.

WELLS-FARGO'S POSTAL SYSTEM

The telegraph says Postmaster-General Howe has, for the first time, learned of the postal system of Wells, Fargo & Co., and has been led to believe that grave abuses have sprung up under the company's administration. This seems to be a hint that another strike, similar to that of three years ago, is to be made against the express-letter system of Wells-Fargo which has been of such benefit to this coast. The express messengers have been the pioneer mail carriers for many years, reaching hundreds of secluded camps that are many miles from government post offices, and delivering letters with almost absolute certainty to those who would otherwise have no regular communication with the outside world. The company pays the government regular postal rates for all letters, so that the postal department suffers no loss. The express system should be allowed to remain as it is—a great benefit to the people of a sparsely settled country.

THE RESULT.

The Republicans have elected a straight ticket, with the exception of Osburn, Clerk; Williams, Recorder, and Stoddard, Assessor. Emmitt was elected over Flint, the Democratic nominee, by between 25 and 40. His majority, as far as heard from, is 38. Salt Marsh and Duck Flat precinct may add to or take away something from his present majority.

The GAZETTE has received from W. R. Strong & Co. of Sacramento their catalogue of seeds, trees, etc., for 1883. It is a handsomely printed pamphlet of 56 pages, profusely illustrated, and contains a select list of the choicest and most approved varieties of vegetable, flower, herb, tree, field and grass seeds. In fact, everything of that description, besides general nursery stock of both foreign and domestic origin which have proved to be suitable to the climate of the Pacific coast. It will prove of great interest and benefit to farmers. Sent free to any address.

The London Financial states that among the minor effects of the Democratic gains in Tuesday's election in the United States there have been transactions in Confederate bonds of considerable amount, and during the past few days they have increased in extent at firm quotations.

The complaint is general all over the country that the "returns come in slowly." The scratching and swamping show that the Democrats exhausted all their resources in the struggle.

John Meyers, a wealthy rancher, living near Linden, in San Joaquin county, Cal., was found drowned in a slough near his farm Thursday.

THE TWO PARTIES.

For many years Democratic successes have only represented Republican disaffection. There is no possibility of harmony between the natural Republican and the natural Democrat, says the Record-Union. Oil and water will mix sooner. But the Republicans have long been compelled to punish their own leaders by putting Democrats in their places, and it is upon this factitious support that the Democracy now lives. Upon such factitious support, however, no party can long maintain itself. The Democrats have no issues and no principles. They are only less corrupt than the Republican "Bosses" because they have had fewer opportunities. And when a new party takes the field with new and living issues the old Democratic party will have to be reconstructed to meet the emergency, and while it must retain its more stable (and stupid) elements by the force of gravitation, it will be compelled to infuse new life into its management, and new ideas. The time, in short, is propitious to the evolution of new parties. The usefulness and the reasons for existence of the old ones have disappeared. They are to-day organizations without definite purposes; or without purposes which are not against public policy. They cannot continue to exist under this anomalous condition. In the absence of issues reform is impossible to them. And it is quite possible that the political upheaval which has just occurred may mark an important stage in the process of transformation and regeneration.

THE RESULT.

The count is now nearly completed in the State, and from present indications the result is about as follows: Mr. Adams has been elected Governor over Mr. Strother by at least 1,100. Mr. Cassidy has a majority over Mr. Powning of between 700 and 1000. Merrill, the Democratic candidate for Attorney-General, will most likely get in by a majority of 100. Laugh-ton, for Lieut. Governor, will have a majority of 200; Judge Leonard 500; Bicknell, Clerk of Supreme Court, 700; Controller Hallock 250; Tuffy, Treasurer, from 150 to 200; Preble 400; Young 250, and Harlow 500.

On joint ballot the Republicans will have a good majority in the Legislature. Of the eleven hold-over Senators, nine are Democrats. Washoe, Ormsby, Esmeralda, Eureka, and Storey counties elected Republican Senators. Douglas county will send an Independent. Churchill is still in doubt. A Democrat will represent Elko, and most likely Lander.

CLEANSE THE TOWN.

Filth and nastiness hold high carnival in the back streets and alleys of Reno. No wonder old and young are sick and not a few deaths occurring when such a condition of affairs is permitted to exist. There is scarcely an alley in town that is not a reeking cesspool of garbage and offal that emits an effluvia in comparison with which the putrefactions of a slaughter-house exhale savory odors. This state of things should be remedied forthwith, or a pestilence will be upon us. A move should be made at once, before disease and death have a firm hold upon the community. Compel every one to purify his own premises. It would not take many hours to cleanse the whole town, if the people work in concert. The Commissioners should look to this matter, and compel every man to perform his proper share of the work.

It is pretty plain that the Prohibitionists of California cast most of their votes for Stoneman, notwithstanding they had a candidate of their own in the field. It is very evident that if they had thrown their influence and the 10,000 vote they possess in favor of Estee the election would have gone the other way. Prohibitionists training with Democrats beat the Republicans in Ohio, and it looks as if California had been treated in like manner.

The London Lancet says M. Tarrier, the surgeon of the Maternity Hospital in Paris, has invented an "incubator" to finish the hand-work of nature in completing half-made babies. A child born before its time is dumped into the machine, where the slovenly job is completed by artificial process.

Ore from Candelaria still comes to Reno for reduction.

STONED TO DEATH.

How Winnemucca's Young Squaw Became a Sacrifice to Savage Superstition—Her Child Brained by a Highway Fiend.

It will be remembered that old Winnemucca, the aged chief of the Putes, died on the 21st of last month; that previous to his death he accused his young squaw of having bewitched him and made him sick, and that he ordered her to be stoned to death. The young squaw was ordered to go to a spring and wash herself, that she might appear before the Great Spirit in the happy hunting grounds in a condition of becoming cleanliness. She feigned obedience, and knowing her fate attempted suicide by hanging, but the attempt was frustrated by a watchful Pinte, who cut her down and brought her back to a miserable realization of her impending fate. Since that time, until a few days ago, it has not been positively known what became of her, though she disappeared. The facts concerning her disappearance have now come to light, and are related by a half-breed called Grizzly John, who is fully acquainted with the circumstances of her death. He was an eyewitness of the horrible scene, which he described to a GAZETTE reporter in passable English. Immediately after the affair he went north on a deer hunt from which he returned yesterday.

PREPARING THE VICTIM.

The evening before old Winnemucca died, about one hundred Indians took the squaw to a large spring, where she had been ordered to bathe. Other squaws stripped her and washed her from head to foot, and then sprinkled her with fine ashes. They then started for a range of hills a few miles from Coppersmith station, leading the squaw, naked and barefoot. Upon arriving at a chosen spot they built a circle of fire, which lighted up a space of ground about one hundred feet in diameter. In the center of this was a stump eight or ten inches high, to which the trembling squaw was securely bound by one foot with a raw-hide strap. She still held her child, a bright little papoose about two years old. When she had been secured, each buck sought for a certain number of stones about the size of a man's fist, and laid them in a pile within the circle of fire. When all was ready for the sacrifice, the Indians joined hands and began a monotonous chant, which lasted for a few minutes, when one of them stepped within the ring and began to harangue them. As he continued to speak the poor, agonized squaw gave vent to

PIERCING SHRIEKS.

Crouching upon the ground and pressing her babe to her breast. This lasted for some moments. Then at a signal there was silence, except the wails of the intended victim. Suddenly the speaker sprang toward her and grasped the child. She struggled frantically but unavailingly to retain it, and was compelled by force to let it go. The fiend immediately swung the infant around his head, holding it by the ankles, howling like a demon and being echoed by the red devils about him; but the squaw did not raise her head nor emit a single sound. Suddenly he dashed the child upon a rock and killed it instantly. Then he resumed his place in the circle, which swung around again chanting as before, till the one who killed the babe came opposite the pile of stones he had collected, when the movement stopped. Stepping forward he picked up a stone, and going to within ten feet of the

CROUCHING VICTIM.

He hurled it at her with all the strength possessed by his brawny red arm. The missile struck her on the side, and was answered by a shriek of anguish. He returned to his place and the circle revolved again until another Indian was entitled to a murderous fling. The wretched creature at the stake was crouching in such an attitude that only her side and back were exposed. It was forbidden to hit her upon the head; and the second savage, choosing the most available target, launched a rock at her with the projectile force of a catapult, striking her between the shoulders and cutting a fearful gash from which the blood flowed down her back in a small rivulet. He then retired to his place and the circle moved on as before. Thus they continued their

MURDEROUS PARTISAN.

Until the poor, pitiful object lay prone upon the ground, a bleeding, senseless mass of mangled flesh. As she lay upon her back, the savage who had harranged the band at first, raised a large rock over his head with both hands and inflicted the coup de grace by smashing her skull. Then there was pandemonium for a few minutes, after which they dispersed and collected wood for a pile, upon which the remains of the luckless squaw and her babe were burned. A few were left to keep up the sacrificial fire, while the others returned to old Winnemucca to comfort her dying moments with the assurance that his young squaw had preceded him to the Indian's happy land.

Beef cattle are very scarce in Eastern Washington.

COAST CLIPPINGS.

Southern California has had a splendid penetrating rain.

There are 4,000,000 feet of logs in the Snoqualmie River, W. T.

It cost $100 to smoke opium in Seattle, W. T., if caught in the act.

The late rains have raised the Snake river so that steamers now make the trip without hauling over the rapids.

Two Chinamen have been found dead from starvation in the Chinese quarters at Oroville, Cal., during the past month.

A man in Oroville, while warming a liquid can on the stove last week, had his arm badly burned by the overflow of the fluid.

Walter Turner, aged sixteen, was arrested for the shooting of a companion at Plainfield, Cal. The shooting is thought to be accidental.

At the San Francisco Custom House Thursday, 73 certificates were issued to Chinamen; 55 sail for China, 17 for Honolulu and one for Victoria.

Coal of an excellent quality, though containing some sulphur, is being obtained from mines in Tulare county, sixteen miles west of Huron, Cal.

James Murphy was thrown from his wagon last Saturday, at his ranch near San Jose, and received a severe cut on the head. Mr. Murphy is 72 years of age.

During the past fortnight three Puget Sound newspapers have been enlarged—the Tacoma News, Port Townsend Argus and Anacortes Enterprise.

Denis Kearney has sent the following telegram to Ben. Butler, now Governor-elect of Massachusetts: "Congratulations on your triumph over the blue bloods of Beacon Hill. You are now the first citizen in Massachusetts."

The Largest Cathedral.

The largest cathedral in the world is St. Peter's in Rome. From the laying of its foundation in 1450 until its dedication, 170 years were consumed in its erection; and if we include the work done under Pius VI. three and a half centuries passed before it was completed, during which time 43 Popes reigned. The dimensions of the church are: Length of the interior 453 feet; of transept from wall to wall 446 feet; height of nave, 152 feet; of side aisles, 47 feet; width of nave, 77 feet; circumference of pillars which support the dome, 335 feet. The height of the dome from the pavement to the base of the lantern is 405 feet; to the top of the cross 448 feet. The dome is encircled and strengthened by six bands of iron. A stairway leads to the roof, broad and easy enough to allow a horse and team to ascend. The annual cost of keeping the church in repair is 30,000 scudi.

A Big Sale of Sheep.

While in Tehama Saturday night last we met E. H. Ward of this place who informed us that he had purchased Geo. Hoag's sheep, 8000 head in all, for which he paid $2 10 each, amounting to the nice sum of $17,200. This is one of the finest bands of sheep in Tehama county and shears an average of about 10 pounds per head each year. E. H. and T. R. Ward have recently purchased 18,000 acres of railroad land on the east side of the Sacramento river between Deer and Mill creeks, where these sheep will be kept during the winter season. Ward Brothers have now about 16,000 head of sheep, and are among the heaviest wool-growers in the county.—Red Bluff Cause.

Artesian Wells.

A very successful attempt at artesian well boring has been made at Carson. A well was bored for Mr. Cagwin, at his residence on the hill in the northern part of the city, and succeeded in obtaining a fine supply of pure artesian water, which rises in the pipe a foot above the surface and flows off in a small but beautiful stream. The depth of the well is only 33½ feet, and after passing through a stratum of clay about 8 inches thick the gravel was struck and the water flowed up immediately. No doubt there are numerous places throughout the State where artesian water can be obtained just as easily as at Carson.

Windom's Wealth.

Senator Windom's enemies in Minnesota are industriously working to create an impression that he had acquired immense wealth during his service in the Senate. In a published letter Mr. Windom shows the falsity of their statements. He enumerates properties said to be owned by him and valued at $7,000,000, all of which he agrees to transfer to his opponents for the sum of 25 cents. The other statements of his enemies, he says, are little nearer the truth.

A Learned Woman.

The most learned woman in the world is Miss Ramusabai, a lady of 20, who is now in Paris. She is a native of India, and can read, write and talk in twelve languages, having a wonderful gift in that way, besides being up in mathematics, astronomy and history. She is studying medicine, and will go to India to practice. She says that thousands of her countrywomen die every year because they will not consult male physicians.

A Cheeky British Demand.

The English are making, in an informal way, two demands upon the managers of the Suez Canal. The first is that it be enlarged so as to accommodate the vast body of shipping which passes through it. If not, they will construct a new canal on a grand scale. A glance at the map will show that this threat is more easily made than carried out. M. de Lesseps availed himself very skillfully of every natural advantage for the construction of a canal. The route he chose struck a line of natural lakes, which seemed to have been put there for this purpose. But there is no other such route, and the construction of such a canal would be far more costly than was the first.

Chivalric Idiots.

In Austria the American duel is getting to be common among drunken students. Two antagonists draw two balls, one white and one black. The one who gets the black ball is obliged to kill himself in any manner he may deem the most safe and comfortable within thirty minutes. Among these chivalric fellows there is a very general belief that but very few Americans die except by the doom of the black ball of the duel.

It is said that the Washoe Indians about here are bulldozing the Putes in the matter of electing a successor to Winnemucca. The Washoes do not want Naches to become chief of the Putes, for some reason which they will not explain.

THE WHISKY TRADE.

From the editorial columns of the New York Tribune we take the following, entitled "Size of the Temperance question." It does no good for men to sneer at the agitation in regard to the liquor traffic. The subject is too important to be laughed down. Aside from the law-defying spirit which it has elicited, aside from all its moral and religious aspects, the question considered merely as one of dollars and cents, in its effect upon the national prosperity and wealth, is one of the most important that can be named.

Directly and indirectly this country spends in the liquor traffic every year a sum exceeding half the national debt. The cost of that traffic to the country, direct and indirect, is greater than the profits of all its capital not invested in real estate. It costs every year more than our whole civil service, our army, our navy, our Congress, including the River and Harbor and the Pension bills, our wasteful local governments, and national, State, county and local debts, besides all the schools in the country. In fact, this nation pays more for liquor than for every function of every kind of government. How is a question of that size to be put aside with a sneer?

The consumption of beer and ale last year was about 15,000,000 barrels; cost to consumers, about $490,000,000. The cheapest kind of liquor used, ordinary whisky, is rarely sold at five cents, and averages at least seven cents a drink; at a half a gallon to the quart, this makes $4.48 per gallon. The consumption last year was about 70,000,000 gallons; cost to consumers about $313,000,000. Adding wines there is certainly spent for drink more than $800,000,000, and the entire sum raised by taxes of all kinds, national, State, county, city and school district, is stated on authority of the Census Bureau to be not more than about $700,000,000. But the cost of the liquor drunk is not by any means the whole cost of the liquor traffic—84 per cent. of all the crime and criminal expenses in Massachusetts comes directly from the abuse of liquor.

There are at least one in twenty of the able bodied men in this country who are rendered idle by their habits or incapacitated for work, and these persons, at the ordinary wages of workmen, would earn, if industrious and fairly employed, over $200,000,000 yearly. The proportion of persons in hospitals, who reach them because of excess in drink, is very large, but cannot be definitely ascertained. A traffic that costs in actual payment and in loss of productive labor more than half the national debt, is not to be ignored by the economist. These comparisons do not constitute reasons for doing any unjust or unwise thing. What ought to be done about the liquor traffic is not to be decided hastily, or without due regards for the rights of all classes of citizens.

But the time has gone by in this country when a serious discussion of a question that involves such a vast expense to the nation can be prevented by bullying, intolerance, insolence or ridicule. This very practical people, having begun to think about the matter in earnest, perceive that it is much too important to be put aside at the dictation of saloon-keepers. It is certain that the entire savings of the people and all additions to their wealth are not twice as much as the sum expended for liquor. If any just and reasonable proposition can be made that will add one-half to the savings and prosperity of the nation, it will not be put down by a sneer, nor defeated by a law-breaking mob.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

The next Legislature will stand as follows:

Senate: Republicans—Churchill, C. Kiser; Esmeralda, J. B. Gallagher; Eureka, W. W. Hobart and M. D. Foley; Ormsby, J. D. Hammond and H. G. Parker; Storey, J. Minor Taylor; Washoe, P. N. Marker. Total, 8. Democrats—Douglas, H. F. Danbury; Elko, E. B. Tolley and J. H. Dennis; Humboldt, Chas. McConnell; Lander, Jas. Smyth; Lincoln, H. Henderson; Lyon, W. J. Westerfield; Nye, J. T. Williams; Storey, J. A. Brumsey and L. T. Fox; Washoe, Jerry Schoelling; White Pine, Tom Rockhill. Total, 12. This gives the Democrats a majority of 4.

Assembly: Republicans—Douglas, A. C. Pratt; Esmeralda, R. T. Morris and T. H. Wells; Eureka, W. L. Marsden and J. W. Smith; Humboldt, D. Melcher; Lander, G. W. Dale; Lyon, W. Crownshield and W. C. Dovey; Ormsby, Frank Boskowitz, Alfred Helm and D. H. Brown; Storey, G. F. Hill, Albert Hires, W. M. M. Johnson, Alex. Tait, W. D. Grey, G. J. Perkins, Anthony Fox,

Chas. Harper, B. Garland, C. H. Galusha; Washoe, W. E. Price, C. S. Varian and H. L. Fish. Total, 25. Democrats—Churchill, —, Elko, E. P. Hardesty, M. B. Winker, Jas. McBurney; Elko, H. J. Muldoon; Humboldt, C. H. E. Hardesty, Geo. Kenting; Lander, E. A. Allen and H. Schneidlein; Lincoln, M. D. Howell, J. Rippe; Nye, T. J. Bell and F. G. McDonald; White Pine, W. C. Love and James Fulton. Total, 15, giving the Republicans 10 majority. On a joint ballot the Republicans will have a majority of six.

ALF. CHARTZ PARDONED.

The State Board of Pardons late yesterday afternoon, granted a full pardon to Alf. Chartz, and restored him to all the rights of citizenship. Chartz, it will be remembered, was convicted of murder in the second degree, in killing Ed. Ricker, a conductor on the Eureka & Palisade road, in 1878, and committed to the State Prison August 12 of that year, to serve a life sentence as a penalty for his crime. He was the proprietor of the Daily Evening Republican, a paper published at Eureka at the time of the trouble. He had a nice business and was making money, but public feeling was so much against him, that the patronage of the paper dropped off to a ruinous degree and poor Chartz was obliged to give up his interest in the paper to defend himself at the trial. A young wife and a little home was all he had left after his conviction. Shortly after his incarceration in his cell at the prison his wife gave birth to a child, and while she was still in child-bed, his little family was robbed of their home by fire. Left without a home Mrs. Chartz came to Carson to see her condemned husband, and for the first time to show him the first of their union. Chartz was very proud of his babe and nearly frantic to think that they must be deprived of his support. After her visit Mrs. Chartz returned to Eureka to make her living sewing; but true to the old saying that "it never rains, but it pours," death snatched their little one from the mother's breast. Chartz's sister, Mrs. S. E. Carlton, was all this time hunting new evidence to prove her brother innocent of the crime for which he had been convicted. No sister's love ever shone brighter than did the affection Mrs. Carlton showed for her unfortunate brother. She presented his case to the Board of Pardons several times and made for him an eloquent appeal, but the Board refused to give Chartz his freedom. His case has attracted much attention, and it is gratifying to his friends to see him once more in a position to comfort and support his wife and sister. Chartz will prove to the world that he is not a bad man in any sense, and after his bitter experience will most surely take the place of a man and keep it.

THE RETURNS.

The following are the majorities the different candidates received at the election held last Tuesday. The full returns will change these figures somewhat, but they are substantially correct: Adams, 1,216; Cassidy, 1,106; Laughton, 837; Leonard, 912; Bicknell, 786; Dormer, 700; Hallock, 632; Tufty, 816; Davenport, 275; Preble, 719; Young, 726; Harlow, 1,092. The above returns show that the State is clearly Republican by a majority of between 700 and 800.

The San Francisco Call says: Your Nevada man is no slouch when it comes to scratching. In a State casting only from 16,000 to 18,000 votes, Cassidy, Democrat, is elected Congressman by a majority of about 1100, and Leonard, Republican candidate for Supreme Judge, has 700 majority. This is a difference of 1800 votes, which is equal to a difference of 100,000 in the State of New York, and to 3800 in the city of San Francisco.

The Esmeralda Herald places Hon. T. H. Wells in nomination for speaker of the House. We understand that Hon. C. S. Varian of Washoe, W. C. Dovey of Lyon, and Albert Hires of Storey will also enter the fight. For the other positions there are about 2,000 applicants already signified a desire to occupy clerical positions.

The grave of Emerson is kept constantly covered with flowers by the young girls of Concord. Hawthorne's, with a stone at head and foot bearing simply his name, is thickly overgrown with glossy myrtle. Thoreau's is unadorned, save with a thick sod of green grass.

The blue bloods of the South have found a new way to obtain satisfaction for wounded "honah." Recently two North Carolinians fought a duel with horsewhips and nearly fayed each other alive.

HARD TO PLEASE.

The Virginia Chronicle and Matt Canavan are engaged in a war of words over the result of the election. The Chronicle says the present Democratic county officers, with Mr. Canavan at the head, are responsible for the Republican victory in Storey county. Canavan replies in a card in the Enterprise and gives Mr. McCarthy the following rap: "From the job in Esmeralda to the outrage in Nye; the fight in Ormsby and the Waterloo in Storey, where the opposition (including Marye, McCarthy and all the purse-hunting horde who were arrayed against me) did not amount to a decent skirmish line. McCarthy, who could not be elected to any convention from this county, sneaked in on a proxy from another county to our State Convention to subvert his own selfish ends, and then, after the election is over, undertakes to read a lesson to the Democrats as to how I should be treated. Is that not good (?) of him? Where is his decency? He was in Eureka when the Democratic State Central Committee was appointed and when I was honored by being made its Chairman. Why did he not speak out against me then—at the beginning of the campaign? Oh, no! He is more at home in a back office than in a Democratic Convention where he must take thrust for thrust and where he has no chance to correct his copy and send forth his false insinuations and cowardly slurs."

Inasmuch as Washoe is the banner Republican county in the State, would it not be well for the Legislature to take a Washoe county man to fill the office of Warden of the State Prison the coming two years?

For a Garfield monument at Cincinnati $10,000 has been raised in dollar subscriptions. It is to be a bronze statue, full length, heroic size, and mounted on a granite pedestal.

General Butler has expressed himself as of the opinion that Democratic success this fall does not insure a Democratic President in 1884 by any means. Level headed old Ben.

It is a singular circumstance that the confederates are getting together and counting noses so soon after election. Morgan's old guerrillas are taking steps for permanent organization.

Before the California election it was "Old Stoneman, the imbecile," or simply "Stoneman." Now it is "General George Stoneman, Governor elect."

Mauling a "stiff."

Quite a crowd collected in front of Brooks' store last night to see the inanimate form of a man packed out and dumped into an express wagon. Many remarks were made concerning the rough manner in which the corpse was handled, and Brookins, who seemed to be bossing the job, came in for a good many harsh criticisms. It was slanderous, the way that poor "stiff" was mauled around. The crowd sang out for Undertaker Sanders, Coroner Dickens and officer Avery, determined to give the cadaver a fair show to look respectable at the general resurrection, when somebody discovered that it was Brookins' old wooden Dutchman, what he was taking to Laycock's shop to get measured for a new suit of paint.

Enforcing an Old Order.

Years ago the Superintendent of the Central Pacific Railroad issued a decree that all persons in the employ of the Company send a photograph of themselves to his office. The order was enforced for a while but it gradually fell into disuse and for some time past no attention has been paid to it. Now it is to be enforced again and every railroad man must send his picture to headquarters. The object of making such a collection of photographs is said to be to enable the company to prevent men, who are discharged on a division of the road for violating the rules of the company, from getting employment on other divisions.

District Court.

In the matter of the controversy between Jane McCormish vs. Jane Lakington et al., the controversy heretofore submitted to the Court without action was decided in favor of Mrs. McCormish and it was ordered that the administrator of the estate of Joseph McCormish, deceased, pay to Jane McCormish one-third of the distributive share of said estate. Also, ordered that the administrator make a report within 10 days.

Estate of Wm. Stopper, deceased; ordered that sale of property of the estate be confirmed.

The Deputy Sheriff.

J. F. Emmitt, the sheriff elect, will appoint W. H. McNis his deputy. Mr. McNis is well qualified to fill the place, and when he is appointed Mr. Emmitt will have a faithful deputy and the people a first class officer.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS.

A Condensation of Prof. Lyser's Lecture at the Late State Institute.

Had some celestial visitor stepped upon our small orb 882 years ago he would have witnessed an extraordinary scene. The morning dawned upon a world whose weary eyelids had not known slumber. The population of the great cities were astir and in motion toward the open fields. Traveling toward the cities were swarms of countrymen, seeking the companionship of human kind. The city sought the spacious freedom of the country; the country hastened for the comforts not yielded by isolation. It was one vast moving day for the world, yet more astonishing than all, no man appeared to carry with him any of those treasures so universally valued. All races, all ranks, all conditions, and all ages were moving. All mankind seemed animated with the same idea. Some moved as under a spell of terror, scarcely knowing how to drag along their palsied limbs. Some, with imploring, reverent gaze fixed upon the upraised symbol of salvation, stepped onward with scarcely less apprehension. Men's ruling passions were repressed by an overmastering fear—the fear of a common death, swift, certain, annihilating. It was the first day of the year 1000—the Dies Irae—when, according to prediction, the wrath of a justly offended God would wipe from existence a sin-stained and unrepentant world. And indeed had the last trumpet sounded.

THE RECORDING ANGEL.

Would have found but too much to enter on the ledger of life and death. The time was the midnight of the Dark Ages. Murder and rapine were rampant through the earth. Strength was the God men worshipped. Robbers built their homes on inaccessible peaks and made laws for weaker men. Superstition was a stronger incentive to action than religion; nay, was the only religion of the multitude. When the pessimist of to-day whines out his miserable interrogatory—"Is life worth living?" and dolorously sighs for the "good old times," you can point him to these days when the weak could own nothing in the world, not even wife or child; when the brute cattle in the fields were worth more than men and women; when the Bible was used as a so-called guide for the use of the thumb-screw and the rack and a thousand horrible instruments, the sight of which to-day would make your blood run cold and your eyesight dim. We, in this generation, have been brought face to face with an experience very similar to that of our ancestors of the 11th century. The end of the world has been predicted, too, for this age and by more or less reliable authority. To Mother Shipton's prophecy few intelligent people paid any attention; but when eminent astronomers like Prof. Piazzi Smythe or Prof. Richard A. Proctor speak of planetary conjunctions and cometary influences, it is a signal proof of growth, of virtue, of intelligence and of thought, that the whole world does not take alarm. It is science, and the wonderful spread of scientific knowledge among the masses that has given man a wider, juster insight into the laws of the universe and imbued him with a deeper confidence in his Maker. We stand to-day, as Newton used to say,

THE SHOULDERS OF GIANTS.

This is why our horizon is wide; why we see so much farther than our ancestors. We often hear that faith in the goodness and wisdom of our Creator is daily growing less. How signal an instance is our generation to the contrary! The men of to-day go about their ordinary avocations, confident that over the vast machinery of our universe reigns a Divine intelligence that works by the steady action of law. They believe in no unheralded catastrophe, for they know that if causes to destroy the earth were set in operation to-day, the final result might be cycles hence. In truth we are assured that in a few years (a million or so) our earth will rotate no longer. It has been found to have been going slower and slower as the centuries have gone by. The moon lifts the great tidal wave of the ocean; that wave, as it travels from east to west, acts like a gigantic brake upon the earth. So, slowly, indeed, but surely, it is losing speed, until the day will come when it stops forever. Our sun, too, the author and supporter of our system—the time approaches when the sun itself shall

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

In reviewing the scientific progress of this country, the entire field is too vast for that brief view that an evening's time only permits. In our day even such a master mind as that of a Bacon would shrink from attempting to master all the stores of knowledge and wisdom. In every art and science this century has made giant strides. A single generation has seen progress in industrial science so wonderful that the story of Aladdin's wonderful palace shrinks into insignificance. With two words, "Steam and Electricity," we can manifest the superiority of our time over the fabled age of gold, or the more real culture and civilization of Greece and Rome. Within 100 years Dr. Priestly by his discovery of oxygen facilitated and so cheapened the manufacture of steel that the whole mechanical industry of the world was revolutionized, and the comfort and enjoyment of human life doubled beyond that of any preceding age. In physics the century has witnessed the discovery of chemical electricity, of magnetism and latent heat, with all their multiform application. The corpuscular theory of light has given place to the undulatory. The investigations of Wedgwood and Sir Humphrey Davy have resulted in the photograph and the safety lamp, and a hundred other no less

VALUABLE INVENTIONS.

Malus, Young and French discovered the polarization of light. Oersted and Faraday discovered electro-magnetism; and, beginning with Count Rumford and Dr. Joule and continued by Dr. Tynall and others, the wonderful law of the conservation of energy was demonstrated to the world. In chemistry the atomic theory has been established, the number of unknown elements increased to sixty-three, and these elements themselves conjectured to be formed of one homogeneous element pervading all space. The sciences of biology and geology have almost been created in one day. In this necessarily brief review, nothing more need be said than to name the steam engine, the locomotive, the electric telegraph, the various labor-saving machines able to perform the work of 3,000,000,000 men; the printing press, the electric light, etc. Their name is legion, and their invention or improvement has been the work of this age. But it is neither to the realm of physics, nor chemistry nor geology that I wish to invite your attention. It is to a subject of infinitely greater moment. To sentient creatures placed on this sphere there can be no question more engrossing than

"HOW CAME THIS WORLD HERE?"

"Whence came man?" "Whither does he go?" To the last question science affords us reply. With the modesty that springs from wisdom she leaves the answer to Faith and Hope. But even on this point she makes us one solemn assurance. Can it be that the genius of man, which has successfully solved the problem of the universe, shall perish from the earth? It is this problem whose solution has been in progress 6,000 years, one which has furnished to man the opportunities of his mightiest triumphs—a problem whose successive developments have demonstrated the immortality of mind, and whose sublime results have vindicated the wisdom and declared the glory of God. It is to the problem of the constitution of our own world, its probable origin and development, to the life which first appeared on its surface, and its growth, improvement and culmination as solved by a most glorious galaxy of sages; from the Chaldean shepherds watching the stars from the plains of Shinar to Herbert Spencer formulating the researches and knowledge of all the centuries in his

GREAT LAW OF EVOLUTION.

This doctrine of evolution is not new though. Aristotle pointed out that we can find an unbroken chain from the lowest plant to the highest animal, each group being separated from the next by very slight differences; nor can we tell, he said, where plants end and animals begin, some forms in some respects possessing the characteristics of both. Pythagoras, 2500 years ago, announced that, first, solid land had been converted into sea; second, sea has been changed into land (shells); third, valleys have been formed by running water, and hills washed into the sea. And so on, giving some of the most important facts of geology and meteorology. The peculiar merit of the 19th century philosophy is this: While the ancient Greeks had some idea of the continuity of life on the globe, while Goethe in his "Metamorphosis of Plants" first showed how plants are multiplied and established, while Lamarck clearly outlined the development of animals, and Von Baer, by his studies in embryology showed that the law of embryological development is similar throughout the animal creation; it was left to Herbert Spencer and the past 50 years to show that in the creation of a world, as in the development of a government as in the progress of art, or science, or literature, matter and mind would grow and expand and become more complex according to the law incorporated with their original constitution by an

OMNIPOTENT CREATOR.

It has been the fashion in the past to call the doctrines of Spencer and Darwin and Huxley atheism, or at least Deism not consistent with the doctrines of Christianity. This spirit is rapidly dying out. Evolution does not dispense with a Divine Intelligence in the economy of the universe. There should be, and need be, no conflict between science and religion. In tracing the chain of astronomical progress the mind loses itself far back in the clouds and mists of antiquity. How deep must be our admiration for the genius of the first astronomer who worked out his sublime conclusions from the peak of some mountain without the aid of a single instrument! A glance only can be given to the work accomplished by these early investigators of science without rudder or compass, without sail or light. They discovered the measure of the year, the time required for the sun to make a revolution around the earth. They learned the cause of eclipses and could predict them. They proclaimed the spherical form of the heavens, and they discovered the procession of the equinoxes. Then human powers unaided could go no further, and their explorations stopped and civilization, being swept away by the northern barbarians, the light of knowledge and culture went out in a midnight of 1000 years of

IGNORANCE AND SUPERSTITION.

During the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries with the art of paper making and the invention of printing, the Dark Ages of Europe passed away. Modern science began to build a magnificent edifice on the foundation lected by ancient philosophy. The work of Copernicus, Ptolemy, Galileo, Kepler and Newton, brought us step by step to the grand scientific climax of the present day. The lecturer then fully and most vividly explained the nebular theory of La Place and Sir John Herschel as to the evolution of our world from nebulous matter. The beginning of life as expounded by Darwin was then followed up, and the various geological periods explained. In conclusion Prof. Lyser urged his hearers to a study of nature. "In all her moods she has something for us of the greatest moment. And we need not fear but what the study will lead us up to Nature's God." The lecture concluded with great and lasting applause and the large audience dispersed feeling that an hour and a half had been spent listening to an address treading with knowledge of the best and most elevating character.

Lassen Items.

(Advocate, Nov. 2.)

Lassen county has gone Democratic. The Wood Bros. started Tuesday with a band of cattle for Reno.

The roads in every direction are in very bad condition, occasioned by the late storm.

A drove of 1,000 beef cattle belonging to the West Bros. passed through town yesterday en route to Marysville.

N. Lute has a colt three months old that weighs 750 pounds.

F. H. Merrill has forbidden the cutting or using of any more timber from Government land.

Information has been received here of the death of H. Brince, well known in this county. Mr. Brince was here a couple of years ago in the photograph business, and afterwards removed to Lakeview, Oregon, where he remained until about a year ago, when he removed to Australia. He died in Dunedin, New Zealand, on the 16th of September, and was buried by the Old Fellows and Masons, of which orders he was a respected member.

The Reno and Susanville stage changed time last Monday. It now arrives at 3 p. m. each day, and departs at 7 a. m., making the entire trip by daylight. The change proposed and published a couple of weeks ago in the Advocate, was tried, but owing to the very bad condition of the roads it was found that the connections could not be made. Stages will run during the winter on the schedule above given.

Couldn't Stand Luck.

Jim Russell was sitting musing on a stump last Saturday a mile or so from Steamboat Springs, and while tossing a straggling idea around in his head he happened to raise his eyes, and was electrified at what he saw. Four big bucks, bigger than Barium's new elephant and higher than Bunker Hill monument, stood staring at him not 50 feet off. He raised his Winchester and blazed away, killing three out of the four. His phenomenal success nearly demented him, and when found by friends he was hugging the carcasses in a delirium of joy. A Virginia butcher gave him $38 for his game.

Easy Deer Hunting.

The stage messenger who runs on the N. & O. for J. W. Meylert, killed a deer Saturday just beyond Rock Springs. A passenger on the train saw seven or eight fine bucks and does standing on a bluff about 200 yards west of the track watching the train. The locomotive was stopped when the messenger jumped off and shot a nice fat doe. The rest of the band stood watching the wounded animal for several minutes after the shot was fired. The train men say they see deer nearly every trip they make. Some of Reno's deer hunters are going out for a hunt in a day or two.

Bold Attempt at Robbery.

As Walter Fullmer was crossing the V. & T. bridge Saturday evening two men demanded him to halt. As Walter had nothing to defend himself with he skipped out at a lively gallop chased by one of the would-be highwaymen to a point just below the Depot Hotel. Walter was informed by his pursuer that unless he stopped he would shoot, but Fullmer was too busy getting away to heed the demand.

Tough Bear Mast.

A defeated candidate revenged himself on a few friends who did not work so hard for him on election day as they should have done. He had an old bear killed and skinned, and the meat doctored up by an artistic butcher. This he distributed among his neglectful friends, stating that it was part of a bear he had shot. It was tougher than gutta serena and stronger than Limberger cheese.

Accident at the Asylum.

Monday when Henry Johnson, the night watchman at the Insane Asylum, was winding up the weight which runs the patent gas machine at that institution, the racket wheel broke, letting the 1,300 pound weight fall to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet. Johnson had a very narrow escape from being caught under the falling weight. Considerable damage was done to the gas works, but it will soon be repaired.

Shipping Wheat to Europe.

H. C. Emmons of Lovelocks has shipped 500 tons of wheat raised on the Big Meadows to Europe, and will ship 50 tons more this week. It is transported by rail to Port Costa, Cal., and there loaded on vessels which sail direct to Europe. The shipment of wheat from Lovelocks to foreign ports gives the Paradise farmers a chance to dispose of their surplus grain.

THANKSGIVING.

Governor J. H. Kinkead Issues His Proclamation.

The people of Nevada have reason to be thankful for the measure of prosperity enjoyed during the present year. Pestilence, which has raged in other localities, has left us unvisited. Devastating tempests, which have swept over other sections, destroying life and property, left us unmolested. Our industries thrive and our prospects brighten. The nation is prosperous and at peace with the world. Let us be grateful for these blessings and beseech their continuance.

In accord with the proclamation of the President of the United States, I, John H. Kinkead, Governor of the State of Nevada, do hereby designate Thursday, the 30th day of November, A. D. 1882, a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God for the privileges and benefits enjoyed by us as a people, and urge its proper observance by all within our borders.

JOHN H. KINKEAD,
Governor of Nevada.

Wintering Cattle.

James Miller has purchased all the hay belonging to Jones & Co., Ambrose Hazelton, Ike Weston, Pat Conley and Evans Bros. of Long Valley, in all 1,100 tons. With this amount, together with 700 tons of his own raising, he calculates to feed 900 head of stock the coming winter. He has contracted to fatten 150 head for the Plumas Eureka mine.

Cruelty to Cattle.

A peep into a cattle car will satisfy anyone that the poor animals have a hard row to hoe while being transported from pasture to the shambles. The cars are generally overcrowded, and they sometimes kick and gore each other frightfully, and small animals are frequently stamped to death by the larger ones. Some better method of transportation ought to be employed.

He Wanted His Money.

Felix Bonnett has obtained judgment in the U. S. Circuit Court before Judge Sawyer against the Humboldt brothers, for $1,850, services as keeper and watchman at a quicksilver mine near Steamboat Springs, which property he has been guarding for three years, during which time he has "worked for nothing and found himself." He sued for $2,500.

Let the Good Work go on.

George A. King, Secretary of the N. & O. road, has put in a good street crossing from the depot to his company's office—a much needed improvement. The residents of the northeastern part of town who have been obliged to swim home in former winters should feel under obligations to Mr. King.

Died at the Hospital.

Frank Bettinger died at the County Hospital Sunday of typhoid pneumonia, after a short illness. He was a worthy young man, and his death will be lamented by his friends and relatives, who live in Washington Territory, where he was born.

Steamboat Springs.

C. F. Moeller makes his hotel a pleasant place for all who enter it. He is kind and obliging, and does all he can to make his guests happy. The table sets is better than anybody else can get up, and a bath or a good swim in the big tank will take the kinks out of a cripple.

How to Comb Your Hair.

It is the fashion now for ladies to comb their hair straight back from the forehead without wearing any "bangs" or frizzes. It is a little hard for those who are wearing their hair short to be in fashion.

POTATO HASH.

Genealogy of the Bright-Eyed Washoe Spud.

The potato has a curious history. It is a native of the elevated valley of the Andes in Peru and Chili, and is found as far north as Mexico. It was taken to Spain soon after the discovery of the American continent, and was cultivated in gardens as a botanical curiosity. The tubers being small and not edible in its wild state, it attracted no attention. In 1586 Sir Walter Raleigh introduced it into England, and is credited with bringing it from Virginia; but of this there is no evidence. Its cultivation in the cool, moist Summers of Ireland soon developed large tubers, which were found to consist largely of starch. A

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Was made in the use of tuber as food, but this was met and combated by a number of learned men, and several works were written and published to prove its poisonous character. It belongs to the great Nightshade family (solanaceae), all of which are poisonous. This indictment was true, but they had not yet learned that a poisonous plant may bear a fruit or a tuber not only harmless, but very nutritious. This prejudice prevented the use of the tomato till within the last forty years. The truth is, both these vegetables, being of Nightshade family, are poisonous in stem, leaf and flower, but this property does not extend to the tuber of the one nor the fruit of the other. While on this subject it is proper to say that solanine,

THE POISONOUS PRINCIPLE.

Of this family, is sometimes developed in the potato, even to a dangerous extent. If the tubers, while growing, are uncovered, so as to expose them to direct sunshine, they will assume a green appearance, and become poisonous from the presence of solanine. The same effect in a minor degree is produced in the sprouting of potatoes. If these are used in cooking they should be sliced and placed in cold water an hour or two before being cooked. Otherwise sprouted potatoes are unwholesome food. The potato is

A TROPICAL PLANT.

But its tuber producing quality is a northern modification of the plant, and in this quality it is improved by the cool summer of the north, and is successfully cultivated to the arctic circle, and with a decided improvement in the quality of the crop and generally in its yield. The crop is sometimes injured by the intense heat of July and August, even at the 40th degree of latitude. The tendency of the tuber to degenerate in warm climates will suggest the precaution of occasionally renewing the crop by planting northern potatoes.

Pardoned.

B. H. Carrick, the defaulting ex-Treasurer of Storey county, was Monday pardoned by the State Board of Pardons—Governor Kinkead, Justice Leonard and the Attorney-General voting in favor of, and Justices Hawley and Belknap against, the pardon. The prisoner's fine—amounting to $21,000, the sum of his defalcation—was not remitted.

The application of John L. Crawford, sent from White Pine for 6 years for grand larceny, was granted; also that of M. Marks, sent from Lander county for 10 years for an assault with intent to kill.

Death of an Old Pioneer.

Judge A. M. Walker, an old and respected citizen of Truckee, Cal., died at that town Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock, of typhoid fever. Judge Walker has been a resident of Nevada county for a great many years. He was a lawyer by profession, and a very kind-hearted, genial gentleman. May he rest in peace until called upon to strike his balance on the books of the mystic future, when the "red ink" is sure to be on his side of the account.

An Old Claim Relocated.

Some parties are reopening a mining claim near Steamboat Springs that had considerable prospecting done on it in 1862-3, but the Comstock was all the rage then, and nothing could be done with it. After twenty years it has been re-located and work resumed. A ledge three to five feet wide has been exposed. There is apparently a large body of ore at hand. Assays give from $70 to $80 per ton in silver, and $15 to $25 in gold.

Spring Improvement.

N. L. Breed intends to put up a two story brick building at the corner of Sierra and Plaza streets, on the lot now occupied by the old Stopher property. B. F. Sheldon will also put up a brick building immediately below that of Mr. Breed's.

A Good Sign.

Treasurer Boyd says taxes are coming in much better than last year. He says he has received 100 per cent. more of the taxes due than was paid in the corresponding month last year. It is a good sign to see everybody paying up.

Sad News.

Mrs. T. K. Hyers Monday received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Mary Sanders, of Delhi, N. Y.

Heavy Damages.

In the case of Brown vs. Evans, in the United States Circuit Court at Carson, Saturday, the jury returned a verdict for $8,150.87 in favor of Brown.

Taxes.

Taxes will be delinquent on Monday, Nov. 20th. "A word to the wise," etc.

Bald Heads in Front.

The latest libel about the comet is that it is one of the bald-headed kind, and is hurrying up toward the sun to get a front seat where it can have a good look at the transit of Venus. This morning about 2 o'clock, before the snow-clouds gathered, his tail seemed to reach half way down the heavens. It is well known that when Venus displays her charms bald-headed men are always found in front.

A GLORIOUS ROUTE.

Natural Advantages of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Roads.
Call the roll of the great western cities—Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas, City, Peoria, Burlington, Quincy, St. Joseph, Keokuk, Rock Island, Davenport, Des Moines, Atchison, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Lincoln and Denver. All here, and all on the lines of the Briarwood, hundred-armed Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. Inquire for the most glorious health and pleasure resorts upon the globe, and the answer: In Colorado, at the Western end of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. To the traveler, on business or for pleasure, going from the East to the West, it is the only through line. To the journeyer from

THE GREAT LAKESIDES

to the Rocky Mountains, it is the only line direct, owing its road clear through and running its own cars. From Chicago to Denver, it is the first and only through line, and by many miles shorter than any of the broken and disjointed competing routes. To the grand scenery and health-giving air and medicated waters of the Rocky Mountain Wonderland, it is the only direct route under one management. To the Eastern seeker for a home and a bonanza fortune, it affords the shortest, quickest, cheapest and best route to the broad valleys and prairies, the free pastures and grain fields, and the daily developing mines of the marvelous Far West. To the eastern and southern summer tourist and refugees from torrid heats and lowland miasmas, it presents the most direct and luxuriously appointed highway to all the

GLORIOUS LOITERING PLACES

of the American Alps, where snow-capped peaks are ever in sight, where every breath is full of vigor; where the eye and the heart may feast on all that is most sublime and magnificent in mountain, valley, lake, river, cataract, crag and canyon; and where Nature, from her strange, hidden laboratories, pours forth her wondrous healing floods, that need no angel's pinion to stir them, as did Bethesda's pool of old, to give them potency for the relief of human woes. To the Colorado cattle shipper it offers by far the most direct and convenient line to the great markets of the world. To everybody and anybody, bound from anywhere to anywhere else; to

TRANS-CONTINENTAL TOURISTS.

As well as to local shippers and journeyers, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad offers every inducement and accommodation. It is the business man's route between the East and West. It is the artist's and tourist's route to all that is most gorgeous in scenery on the continent. It is the homeseeker's route to millions on millions of acres of free farming and grazing lands. It is the stock-raiser's route to cattle ranges and sheep pastures that cost nothing and are only fenced by the horizon. It is the fortune hunter's route to all the bonanza mines, present and to come. It is the invalid's route to the world's most glorious sanitarium.

The Fish Law in Plumas.

The fish law shut out the operations of Plumas anglers, and the trout will have a rest until the 1st day of April, 1883. The law is entirely wrong, so far as Plumas is concerned, and a move should be made to have the time changed. As it now stands, the open season commences just about the time the fish are spawning, and just when they should be protected. There is no reason for stopping the catching of fish in Plumas until the first of January, or even February, and then the close season should last until the first of June. April and May are the spawning months, varying a little, of course, in different seasons. If the fishermen would make the effort the change in law, as regards that county, could be easily effected. The law needs changing in regards to various localities along the Sierras, which are in California, but mostly frequented by Nevada fishermen who are liable to arrest and fine for disregarding an improper law.

Getting Ready for 1883.

John Ware, Superintendent of the Pacific Wood and Lumber Company, was in town yesterday. His company has cut 7,000,000 feet of lumber this season, and will run two months more this year. They are putting up a new log chute and are extending their narrow gauge railroad farther up Juniper creek, preparatory to doing a heavy year's work in '83.

Confidence in Peavine.

Captain Griffin, Superintendent of the Antelope mine, is having the yearly assessment work done on the Bevel hammer claim in Peavine. He has not lost confidence in that district. The recent strike in the Antelope has probably induced him to the belief that there are other mines just as good. There are many others who agree with him.

Election Bets.

M. T. Coats won several bets on the election, so that now he is well provided with cash. He may lose one, however. Maurice May of Franktown notifies him that he wants a No. 7 hat because Marker failed to beat Winters 150 votes. Marker's majority is 104, so far, with Duck Flat to hear from. But the hat is ready.

Dining Cars for the Overland.

It is reported on the road that Mr. Huntington has ordered twenty-five dining cars, to run on the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific roads.

FEW ELECTION NOTES.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY.

About 900 votes polled—a falling off since 1880. The Democrats claim 150 majority for the head of their ticket and the Republicans concede 100. County ticket mixed. Cassidy and Adams have majorities.

BUREKA COUNTY.

It is said that Cassidy, Adams and Sadler have 800 majority each. Cassidy says with a stand-off in Storey he will win by 800.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

It is estimated that the Republican State ticket is behind 100; that six days will elapse before the returns from Lincoln county can be made, and that Panaca gives Powning 24 majority.

STOREY COUNTY.

Enterprise: From the votes counted the general result may be foreboded. The indications are that the Republican ticket will prove successful, except as regards Strother, candidate for Governor, Pearson for Sheriff and probably one or two other county and State officers.

ESMERALDA COUNTY.

It is reported that Dormer received a large complimentary vote in addition to the regular party vote there. All the county returns received are flattering. Powning ahead; Governor's vote close.

ORMSBY COUNTY.

Out of a registered vote of 844 in Carson precinct 766 votes were cast. Adams carries the county by 81 majority.

The Fusion ticket is beaten in the county by a decided majority.

LANDER COUNTY.

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. The Democratic majorities on the State ticket are as follows: Cassidy 69, Adams 98, Burke 85, Leonard 19, Dunne 43, Richards 39, Tufts (Republican) 14, Merrill 89, Ernst 50, Ham 39, Kaye 13, McCarthy 48. There are two precincts to hear from, which will increase the Democratic majority slightly. Smyth (Dem.) is elected State Senator; two Democrats to the Assembly and one Republican.

NYE COUNTY.

BEKLOUT, Nov. 9. The Democratic majorities so far as heard from are as follows: Adams 23, Burke 8, Cassidy 15, Ernst 54. The balance of the majorities are Republican.

Plumas Items.

(From the National of Nov. 4.) Antone Genasi assaulted Dr. Pratt with a club, one night about six weeks ago, and seriously injured him about the head and face. He has been committed to jail on a charge of assault to commit murder.

The great quantity of snow on the mountains indicates that Winter has closed in.

There is a big mining boom in Long valley.

The roads are closing up very early, and somebody will have to suffer for it. Lots of Plumas county freight is still out, and the chances are that much of it will stay out for this winter.

The vote of Plumas is estimated at 1,400.

Considerable activity has recently been developed in the mining line in the neighborhood of the 20-Mile House, and a large section of mining ground has been located. The "boom," we are told, has been caused by the predictions of a "dowser," or a man who claims to locate rich mineral ground by means of a "mineral rod."

D. Bushman, of Black Hawk, is getting up a quartz-crusher which combines the crushing power of a stamp mill with the grinding process of an arrastra.

From several parties who have recently visited the Eureka, we learn that some exceedingly favorable developments have been made recently, both in the upper and lower levels, and that the mine never, in all its history, looked so well as at present.

A Constable Sold.

Saturday afternoon, when it was cold enough to chill an anvil, officer Avery spied a man lying upon his face on the sidewalk in front of J. J. Becker's saloon. So he stepped forward to the lively tune of:

To snatch a drunk I never fail;
He'll pay a fine or go to jail.

But when he reached the supposed drunk he found it was Becker's porter peering down into a coal hole for cats or something else that's a noisy nuisance.

Beef Cattle.

There is no danger of a glut of the beef market of the West, or indeed of the world, this winter. There are fewer cattle in Nevada than there were a year ago. Mr. Todhunter, was here a day or two ago, and said not over 2000 head will winter in Surprise; about 1000 will winter in Quin river, 3000 in Paradise Valley, and not over 8000 between Winnemucca and the sink.

A Hint from Abroad.

Virginia Enterprise: Several deaths have recently occurred at Reno from typhoid pneumonia. The sickness and fatality are such as to suggest that there must be something essentially wrong in the drainage, or the general cleanliness of that town.

Not Very Well.

The White Plains well is down 900 feet. At 775 they got a streak of salt water. The water is getting better with depth. They have four streaks of water in all. It flows out over the top of the pipe. Mr. Chapin talks of going down 2000 feet before he quits.

IN SUMMERLAND.

Notes From an Old-Time Resident of Reno.

UKIAH, Nov. 5.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—"Time rolls its ceaseless course;" it seems but yesterday, and yet already six months have passed since I left the banks of the beautiful Truckee. Then it was springtime, hill and valley were decked in green; now the harvest is gathered, the foliage assumes its varicolored autumn tints, and Nature, as well as man, takes a short rest.

We seem to be in for a wet season. September died in tears, and sobbed its brief career away in a gust of rain that quite astonished some of the old settlers as something unheard of here. The ancient chronicles were consulted for a precedent, and it was found that in '59 we had a similar Fall season. Some grain was damaged, and some grapes; but the hills and mountains are already green, and where there is some loss, there is a larger gain in an abundance of feed for stock.

The valleys below here fare still better, as the climate is milder and the early rain was of incalculable benefit. A party of three, myself included, took a ride to Santa Rosa the other day, a distance of sixty miles, and the further we descended the more apparent was the benefit of the early rain, particularly near

SANTA ROSA.

Which is undoubtedly the most beautiful city in the State of California. It is lovely in the Spring time, and it is no less attractive now while most all the rest of the State is dry and arid; and indeed, were it not for the calendar which tells us that we are in November, by the looks of the country about Santa Rosa it would be hard to tell whether it were Spring or Fall. The late rains had shaken the dry leaves from the evergreens, and now all look as green as in the Spring; and while riding on the highway beyond the town the traveler will observe on one side of the road a vineyard in which the master and his laborers are busy gathering the golden fruit, while perhaps, directly opposite on the other side is a meadow with green grass and covered with thousands of wild Spring flowers in all their beautiful varieties. Nature seems to have been constantly at work here.

The town is situated on the banks of the Russian river, on almost level ground. The streets are wide and at right angles. It is the county seat of Sonoma county, the banner county of the State, and business seems to be thriving. Mills, factories and wineries are in full blast. Everyone seems to be busy, and right here is where the prosperity of a town and the success of its business come in.

HOME INDUSTRIES.

The wool is not sent away from home and sold, to be brought back again in the shape of blankets and clothes, but is put through the mill right here. Men and women find employment and freight and commissions are saved to the producer, as well as the consumer. Wineries of no mean proportions convert the crops of the vineyard into choice wines and brandies, which are sent abroad. Canneries and fruit-driers absorb the product of the orchards. Tanneries take care of the hides; and thus a large amount of money is scattered among the working classes. The money is kept at home and tends towards building up a prosperous and happy community.

A stroll through the town revealed many fine and substantial residences, with ample and park-like grounds, adorned with choice trees and plants, and some of them with a wilderness of the loveliest flowers, not in hot-houses, but in the open air. Our ramble brought us to the cemetery, located on a little knoll outside of the town, and here again we had to admire the care and good taste with which this city of the dead was kept in order. Soon a funeral procession was seen approaching and slowly entered the gates. A little coffin, hid, almost, beneath a profusion of wreaths and flowers, was taken from the hearse and placed beside a new-made grave. Then followed a scene such as is not often witnessed—a heart-broken and inconsolable mother refused to part with her darling, her only child. Once more must the coffin be opened, one more look at that tiny, little white upturned face, another outburst of grief. Many are the tears shed by sympathizing friends on those snow-white blossoms, and then it is buried from sight forever. Silent and sad returned the procession, and silent and sad we three strangers, "pilgrims from afar," retraced our steps to the hotel; but before we reached our destination another spectacle presented itself to our view. First, the sound of cannon and martial music; next, a brass band and a uniformed procession of the "Stoneman Guard," who had turned out to receive the General. And thus we glide from grave to grave. Returning next day, I left my friends, and took the cars on Donahue's road, which is a very slow coach. There is continually something getting out of kilter, either on the engine or the cars. The engines have, like those on other and faster roads, a cow-catcher in front. Mr. Donahue, with all his sagacity, made a mistake there—there is no danger of his engines overtaking any cow. The catcher should be on the rear end of the train, to keep the cattle from running into it.

VERITAS.

Roll of Honor.

The following is the roll of honor for the Franktown school for the month ending October 31st: Mattie Harcourt 90, Effie Brown 96, Maud Towl 96, Edith Towl 92, Emiah Bowen 98, John Holmes 93.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

The Washoe Mill and Lumber Company Starting an Important Manufacturing.

The Washoe Mill and Lumber, successors to C. A. Bragg & Co., have put up a planing mill and box factory on the site formerly occupied by Charles Courtois, and are doing a good business. They have put in a 60-inch 54-horse boiler, 16 feet long, set in brick, with a large steam drum on top 36 inches in diameter by 10 feet in length. The boiler is supplied with water by a No. 4 Knowles pump. The pump is so arranged that fire-hose can be attached in a moment, so that in case of fire the company can do good work in protecting their property. The pump will throw the same volume of water that the pump on old "48" used to squirt. They have put in a double engine 8x16 and 50-horse power to drive the machinery, and everything in the boiler and engine room is as complete as money and labor can make it. The main driving belt is 14 inches wide. The factory is 60x80 feet and contains a planer, re-sawing machine and wood and iron turning lathes. The company will shortly put in another planer of the latest improved pattern and machinery for manufacturing boxes. Within one year's time the company will have established one of the most important manufacturing ever started in this State. They have superior advantages in location and are accessible to one of the finest belts of timber in the Sierra Nevada range. Thirty miles north Bragg & Schooling have put up a large saw mill and will manufacture several million feet of lumber annually. Mr. Bragg is one of the firm composing the W. M. & L. Co., and is shipping large quantities of lumber to the Reno factory weekly. Wm. Henry, the manager of the new firm, aided by Charley Courtois, the veteran machinist and mill man, are running the Reno mill to its fullest capacity and have all the work they can manage. In connection with the mill is the lumber yard, just west of town, where the firm carry a large stock of building material of all kinds. At the mill the N. & O. road has a "Y" track, making it convenient for the mill company to receive material or load cars on three sides of their factory, while the C. P. company has a side track immediately in front or north of the factory. The company are getting their arrangements completed, and will soon have one of the busiest places in Western Nevada. They manufacture and keep in stock common and dressed lumber, doors, sash, blinds, moldings, brackets, lath, cedar posts, wood and slabs; also redwood rustic, ceiling and surfaced Oregon pine flooring and scantling, redwood and pine shingles and shakes, and every description of building material; besides packing and fruit boxes of any size required. Scroll sawing and turning will also receive a share of their attention. Their main office is at the yard at the corner of Third and Ralston streets.

How to Cousin up to a Widow.

F. M. Smith, now of San Francisco, sixteen years ago at Reno, Nevada, borrowed $150 of John Donovan. Some time since Mr. Donovan died and was buried in Sacramento, leaving a widow, who a few weeks ago received a letter from Mr. Smith, stating that he had borrowed the amount of money above stated, from John Donovan, and if she would establish the fact that she was the widow he would forward the money with interest, as the loan had been a very great accommodation to him. The establishment of the fact that Mrs. Catherine Donovan was the lady sought was easily accomplished, and a few days ago she received a check for $500. The above steamboat is from the Record-Union.

Hay and Cattle in Plumas.

The scarcity of cattle in the East and the subsequent rise in the price of beef, has aroused the cattle dealers to activity, and all the cattle are being fed that hay can be found for. There are more feeding at present in Honey Lake valley, says the Greenville Bulletin, than has ever been known before. There was an unusually large crop of hay raised there this year and it is now all sold, going readily at the first for five dollars and fifty cents and soon increasing to six dollars per ton. Over 4,000 head of beef cattle are being fattened in the Tule district alone.

One Year For Arson.

In the case of the people vs. Mrs. Boynton, convicted of arson, Judge Webster, counsel for defendant, on the 9th made a motion for arrest of judgment, which, after argument, was denied by the Court, and Mrs. Boynton was sentenced to one year in the State Prison. The Sheriff will take her to Carson to-morrow.

SHE CALLED THE DANCE.

Because He went to Glendale to Have Some Fun with the Boys.

A man went into Coleman & Pechner's the other morning to get shaved and have his head rubbed up. He had been "on the batter" all night, and looked cadaverous about the eyes, and his breath smelled like spoiled meat. After he had been put through the usual course by the skillful barber, he sat down in a chair and went to sleep. This was a breach of rules which the proprietors could not tolerate, so they gently aroused him by a tap with a hair-brush, and suggested that he go home and take a nap. Then he looked as if he had seen a ghost. The word "home" seemed almost to scuttle and sink him. He said he had been to a dance all night, and had some fun with the boys, and that his wife was on the war-path after him. The poor man was in a fearful quandary. He couldn't sleep where he was, and was afraid to go home; but out he went, nevertheless. Just as he got on the sidewalk a portly female sailed on alongside of him, and shouted:

"Been out dancing and drinking, have ye? Danced and prouted with everybody that'd hang onto yer blasted old carcass, didn't ye? I'll give ye all the dance you want. You just give us the Boston glide for home, or we'll swing partners, and all hands 'I w-l-z to the quickest music ye ever hearsed. Chassey down the street, now. I'm a-calling this dance." And he chasseyed, while she followed like a fat duck in pursuit of a tumble-bug.

Plumas Items.

(Greenville Bulletin, Nov. 8.) Typhoid fever is now prevalent among the children in the lower part of Honey Lake Valley.

There is fourteen inches of packed snow on the summit between here and Honey Lake Valley.

There is ready sale for shakes and shingles in Susanville. The town is being built as fast as material can be got, and the local supply is not equal to the demand.

Susanville presented a very desolate scene after the fire, but it is now changed to one of bustling activity.

More cattle are now being fattened in Honey Lake Valley than has been seen there at any one season for years past. The hay farmers there have done very well this year; their crops brought better prices than formerly.

The Reno stage has changed time; it now comes every evening at about 5:30 o'clock and leaves about 6 o'clock next morning. Two days are occupied in making the trip.

Honey Lake is the only available source from which we can get wheat and flour, and no time should be lost in getting it here.

The wheat crop for this season in Indian Valley is estimated to be at least 2,000 bushels short of the amount raised the previous year.

The Election in Ormsby.

The election in Ormsby county resulted in the election of the entire Republican Legislative ticket. Swift, R., was elected Sheriff by a majority of 45; Kersey, R., was elected Assessor by 206; Torreyson, R., District Attorney, 78; Fraser, R., Treasurer, had 127; Martin, R., Recorder, had 150; Atherton and Martin, Republican nominees for County Commissioners, had majorities of 82 and 72. There is a tie between Hatch, R., and Beam, Fusion, for County Clerk.

Turned Up Again.

The nice young man who beat confiding young ladies of Reno and Truckee out of considerable money a short time ago, taking orders for shoes that he never intended to deliver, and getting cash in advance, has turned up in the northern counties of California, where he is doing a land-office business. He talks so glibly that confiding young ladies are obliged to yield to his blandishments and allow themselves to be swindled.

Going Home to be Buried.

E. N. Evans, who used to be a conductor on this division of the C. P. road, went East Saturday with the remains of his brother, J. C. Evans, who was also an employee of the road along here. The latter died in the Sacramento hospital a few days ago of typhoid fever, and the body is being taken East for interment at Kansas City, Missouri.

MORE STAR ROUTE INFAMY.

A Two-Faced Man Makes a Statement Under Oath.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

A statement, said to be made by Frank B. Fall under oath, October 10, is made public to-day. It begins by asserting that he obtained an impression from an interview with Brewster Cameron on June 14, that the government had decided to obtain evidence of misconduct of the star route jury, past and future, and was engaged at $10 per diem to find if any members of the jury were corruptible, to be reported to Cameron every night. On June 24 he talked with Thomas A. Foote, a colored juror, in the Circuit Court. From information obtained from Richard F. Laws, he concluded that Brown, a star route juror, had been approached, and told Foote so.

Afterwards he negotiated with Payne and Foote, looking to the securing of the control of Brown's vote. A contract was drawn contemplating the paying of $2,500, and was preferred to Brown by Payne, but the former refused to sign the paper, saying it was a detective job. Brown said he would do as wanted if he was paid $2,500, and would control Juror Martin. Fall refused to pay the money without the contract being signed. Seeing by the newspapers of September 25 that Brown had made an affidavit charging Payne with an attempt to bribe him, Fall sought an interview with the latter. Payne declared Brown's statement a lie; that Brown had offered to sell his vote to whomsoever wanted it for $2,500. Payne pleaded poverty, and asked for a loan, which Fall refused unless he would make a sworn statement. Payne promised, but did not appear. All efforts to find him failed, until October 2, when he was encountered in the Baltimore and Potomac depot.

He then reported that his failure to keep his engagement was due to overtures made by Charles Jones and Mr. Moll for a meeting between him (Payne), detective Miller, Major Richards and Brown, looking to getting a statement from Foote, who in the meantime had gone to Newark. Richards and Payne started for Newark. Richards gave him $20 at his request. Richards paid all the bills. They saw Foote and got the affidavit. Foote wanted $2,000 for the affidavit, and wanted it left in Payne's hands until he got his money. Foote finally wrote a letter which Payne brought to Washington, addressed to Brady, Dwyer & Co., demanding $1,000 before the affidavit should be delivered. Richards threatened to get Payne to make an affidavit which should agree with what Foote said in his. Payne said he wanted $15,000 for his affidavit, and he denied the making of it until that time. Payne wanted the advice of a lawyer before he would make it. They wanted him to go with Cook and make an affidavit in his office. Payne wanted to advise with Colonel Ingersoll. Richards telegraphed for Colonel Ingersoll, and Richards and Miller took Payne to Colonel Ingersoll's house Sunday, October 1, and there Colonel Ingersoll read the affidavit—all that were wanted for the purpose of downing Attorney-General Brewster, Cameron and Corkhill, all of whom would have to go when Congress met and began an investigation into the star route business.

It was agreed that Foote should make an affidavit and give it to Payne and Payne should hold the affidavit until he made his own, or they got $1,000, which Foote demanded for his, but that Major Richards got possession of the affidavit in Newark and refused to give it up. He was discharged from the Department of Justice July 17. While acting for the Government Fall says he spread the impression that he worked in the interest of the defense. He authorized Skivington to say so. The result was that John G. Cox approached him repeatedly and said he had two jurors for sale, whenever Fall had money. Cox engaged to bring in the men. Richard Laws claimed that through Brown he brought about a disagreement. Juror Laws said he was employed by the defense to influence Brown and did so, being neighbors and on terms of brotherly intimacy, while another man, named Ludington, also claimed to control the vote and offered to deliver it any time the money was forthcoming.

Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 9.

Returns from all but three counties in the Third Congressional District, show that E. R. Valentine (Rep.) who was in doubt, is undoubtedly elected by a majority of over 1,000, so far as heard from. There are three thinly-populated frontier counties—Sioux, Custer, and Wheeler—yet to hear from, and their vote cannot defeat Valentine. There is now considerable doubt as to the election of Clark (Rep.) for State Treasurer. His opponent, P. D. Sturdivant, received the combined vote of the Democrats and Anti-Monopolists. It will take several days to ascertain positively, but it looks now as if Clark is defeated.

The election of Dawes (Rep.), for Governor is assured, and the rest of the State ticket by 12,000, with the exception of Clark, for Treasurer. Valentine, for Congress, will have 700 to 1,000 majority; Laird, 4,000; Weaver, 3,500. The Legislature will stand about 40 Republicans, 30 Democrats and 40 Anti-Monopolists and Independents.

A Much-Married Missionary.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

Amelia Gilchrist, a member of the Salvation Army, confessed in court to-day to having two husbands.

The New York "Times" on the Political Revolution.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

The Times gives the following summary of the Forty-eighth Congress: Democrats will control the House, the figures being, Republicans 127, Democrats 198. The state will be represented in the next Congress by 21 Democrats and 13 Republicans—a Democratic gain of 8. The Assembly will consist of 85 Democrats and 43 Republicans, thus giving Democrats a majority of 42 in the lower house. The Senate stands 17 Democrats to 17 Republicans. The Times adds: The tidal wave has reached the crests of the Rocky Mountains and Sierra Nevadas, the States of Colorado, California, and Nevada having changed their ruling politics with a grand rush. Nevada and Colorado are Republican States, so far as their Governors represent the political complexion of the people. In each of the States the control is close, but for all political purposes both may be conceded to the Democrats by a small majority, and one Democratic Congressman is elected from each State. The revolution in California is more marked; there being three candidates in the field, the sweep is tolerably clean and effective.

Death of a Pioneer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

Brevet Major-General Richard Arnold, who died here yesterday, in 1853 was attached to the Western division of the Northern Pacific railroad survey in charge of Governor Stephens, and accompanied the expedition to the Rocky Mountains. In the Spring of 1854 he relieved Captain (now General) McLennan in constructing a military road from Fort Steilacoom to Walla Walla, Columbia river, crossing the Cascade mountains, a distance of 234 miles. On the completion of this work he was appointed aid-de-camp to General Wool in April, 1855, on whose staff he served until the breaking out of the war.

Building in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 9.

General James R. Chalmers, Independent Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second Mississippi District, opposing Van H. Manning, Democratic nominee, is in the city. In an interview he asserts that bulldozing was practiced in Tallahatchee county where an election was prevented from being held on the pretense of fear from small-pox, which deprived him of 500 votes, and one box was stolen in Deas county, where the Judges refused to hold an election, which lost to him 200 votes. Notwithstanding all this, he claims election on the returns made by 1,070 majority.

Illinois Returns.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.

The history of politics in this State does not furnish a parallel to the present election in the difficulty experienced in getting returns of official majorities. From 94 counties out of 102 careful estimates give Smith (Rep.) for State Treasurer 7,575 majority, and his election is considered assured. The result on Superintendent of Public Instruction is still in doubt, with chances in favor of Rabb (Dem). The State Legislature is Republican certainly by 15 on joint ballot. The Senate stands Republicans 31, Democrats 20. House, Republicans 77, Independents 1. On joint ballot, Republicans 108, Democrats 95, Independents 1.

Colorado.

DENVER, Nov. 8.

Returns from the State are coming in slowly. One hundred and seventy-nine precincts give Grant (Dem.) for Governor 1,326 majority, and Belford (Rep.) for Congressman 1,157, with six precincts yet to hear from. The latest indications are that Grant and Belford are both elected. Ex-Senator Chaffee concedes the State to Grant by about 500 majority. The Senate and House are still in doubt. This is the most bitter fight Colorado has ever known.

Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 8.

Congressman Washburne estimates his majority at no less than 8,000 in the Fifth District. Nelson, Republican, is unquestionably elected, making the Minnesota delegation solid Republican. The Legislature will be Republican by a somewhat reduced majority, and it is estimated that three-fourths of the Republican members will favor the re-election of Senator Windom.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.

The total vote of Massachusetts, all but one town, gives Butler a plurality of 13,392. The returns show a plurality on the Republican State ticket, except Bishop, of about 16,850. The Executive Council will stand seven Republicans and one Democrat. The total Greenback vote in the State is 32,000. The Republicans have elected eight Congressmen.

The New York Vote.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.

The extent of the Democratic victory is not yet told. Cleveland's majority in the State will reach the enormous total of 100,000, utterly unprecedented in the history of the country. Counties that never went Democratic since the Republican party organized have gone heavily for Cleveland. Among them are the following: Cattaraugus, Broome, Chautauque, Chautauque, Cayuga, Herkimer, Jefferson, Madison, Oneida, Ontario, Orleans,

Oswego, Saratoga, Steuben, Suffolk, Tioga, Tomkins, Warren and Wyoming. Out of sixty counties the Republicans carry precisely ten, but this is something, for notwithstanding Cleveland's great majority he has not received so many polls as Hancock had in 1880, when the latter was beaten by 21,000. The fact is the Republicans either stayed at home or voted for Cleveland. The rebuke to the administration everywhere is considered complete and terrible.

Art Treasures Destroyed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

The Bierstadt place at Irvington on the Hudson, owned by Albert Bierstadt, the artist, was destroyed by fire this morning. The mansion was erected sixteen years ago at a cost of $100,000. The studio was 70x50 feet, with ceiling 35 feet high, and was situated in the rear of the second story. All rooms of the spacious interior were finished in hard woods. Large Turkish rugs took the place of carpets. The furniture was costly and nearly every room contained from three to ten valuable pictures of famous artists. In the library were two pictures of the long famous Yosemite Valley, valued at $10,000. The house was filled with many valuable trophies and curiosities which Bierstadt collected in Yosemite Valley and elsewhere. As far as known, these valuable relics and furniture are totally destroyed. The furniture itself was worth $10,000. Pictures and curiosities are estimated to be worth nearly $100,000 more.

Opposition to Dressed Beef.

ALBANY, Nov. 10.

T. C. Eastman of New York, W. H. Munroe of Albany, W. H. Vanderbilt of New York and W. Arnold of Chicago have formed a company with a reported capital of $1,000,000 to oppose the Chicago dressed beef enterprise. They will open depots in every city where other firms have an agency now and will sell beef brought from Chicago in the American Refrigerator Company's cars at a price which will just cover expenses. This is considered a move to crowd out the dressed beef trade in the interest of the live stock business and railway companies.

A Long Canoe Voyage.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.

Dr. S. D. Kendall and wife of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Dr. C. A. Kneide of Schuylerville, N. Y., reached here to-day by canoe, having left Lake George on August 19th, going thence by water to Buffalo; thence to Allegheny and down the Ohio. Mrs. Kendall returns home from here, but the others propose to continue the voyage to the Gulf and then along the coast to New York and up the Hudson to Ithaca, a point which they hope to reach next August. They are the guests here of the Cincinnati Canoe Club.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.

Returns for the State Legislature are complete, showing the following complexion: Senate, 19 Republicans, 19 Democrats—a Democratic gain of four. Assembly, 52 Republicans, 45 Democrats, State Assembly, 1 Independent—a Republican loss of 12. Republican majority on joint ballot. This Congressional District is still in doubt. It is claimed positively by Republicans and Democrats. The former figure out a majority of 89 for Williams, and the Democrats claim that Wivans has 1,000 majority.

South Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

In conversation on political topics this morning, Secretary Folger expressed the opinion that until the existing breach healed, the Republican party cannot consistently expect success at the polls. Judging from the tone of his remarks, the Secretary never entertained a hope of carrying New York.

Nebraska.

OMAHA, Nov. 8.

Returns still continue to come in slowly. Careful estimates place the Republican majority in the State at from 12,000 to 15,000, which is a reduction of about 18,000. This is owing to the defection of German and other foreign Republicans, who have taken this method to punish the party for favoring prohibition.

Texas.

GALVESTON, Nov. 8.

Returns from the Tenth District indicate the election of John Hancock (Dem.) Ochiltree (Rep.) is probably elected in the Seventh—the only Republican returned to Congress.

Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 9.

Returns from all parts of the State do not change the general result. All Democratic candidates for Congress are elected.

Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 8.

The Democratic Central Committee estimates Bates' majority over Hawkins (Republican) for Governor at 30,000. The Bates legislative ticket will have a majority in both houses.

Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.

Latest advices from the State indicate the election of the Republican State ticket by from 10,000 to 12,000 majority.

More Star Route Stuff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

The Attorney-General has requested the District Commissioners to dismiss Detective Geo. Miller for his action in the star route bribery case, but he can only be tried for disobeying police regulations requiring him to report all official action within 24 hours to his superiors. This will be done when specific charges are preferred before the police.

Blaine, Blair and Chandler—Ben Butler's Chances for the Presidency.

BOSTON, November 10.

Those persons, who are doubtless numerous, who are expecting Hon. James G. Blaine to seize an opportunity to make an attack on the administration are doomed to disappointment. The ex-Secretary was in this city several hours to-day on his way from Augusta to Washington, and while here refused to be interviewed. Nevertheless he talked freely to one or two personal friends concerning the political situation. He does not see in Tuesday's reverses anything to cause despondency in the future of the Republican party. The Democratic party suffered an overwhelming defeat in 1840, but carried the election in 1844. The Republican party was practically beaten in several of the most important Northern States in 1862, but Abraham Lincoln carried all except one or two in 1864. He thinks victory may be achieved in 1884 by presenting as a candidate for the Presidency a man upon whom both factions can unite, and who has the confidence of the country. It looks to him as if Ben. Harrison was the one for the exigency. To the accomplishment of that result he will lend his influence as a private citizen who believes Republican success in 1884 is essential to the welfare of the country. Mr. Blaine, there is reason to believe, is in earnest in saying he is not a candidate for the Presidency, or for any office. In August last he said: "I am not a candidate, and as it now looks to me I never shall be a candidate." To-day he reaffirmed the statement, and left off the qualifying clause. His language to-day was: "I want you to distinctly understand that I am not a candidate for the Presidency, or for any political office, and nothing can induce me to be." This he said to an intimate friend.

Secretary Chandler and Senator Blair of New Hampshire were together with Mr. Blaine a while this afternoon. Mr. Blaine, when questioned, remarked that in his opinion, if Butler carried Massachusetts again in 1888, he would be a very strong candidate for the Democratic nomination. The contest in this State next year, he thinks, will be the bitterest ever known, and Butler's prominence before the National Democracy depends entirely upon his re-election to the Governorship.

Blair expressed an opinion that Butler is and will be the strongest man the Democrats can nominate in 1884, as he is especially strong with the negroes of the south, and is a firm supporter of Mahaniam. Senator Blair incidentally remarked that by his antagonism of Mahone Blaine had lost popularity with the colored voters. Secretary Chandler preferred to talk about the Republican victory in New Hampshire rather than of the result in the other States, saying the fight in the Granite State resulted in an especially grand victory for the Republican party. The Secretary said he should not pronounce a verdict on the general result of Tuesday's ballot-boxing until the autopsy has been made.

Fatal Explosion.

WHITE HALL, N. Y., Nov. 10.

Four tons of powder exploded at the Keenan Lime Works, Smith's Basin, to-day. Two men, Dennis Golden and Joe Cameron, who had charge of the powder-house, were blown to atoms. Some parts were found half a mile distant.

Trotters Coming West.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

Orrin T. Hickok left for Chicago and San Francisco yesterday evening. St. Julien and Overman go overland with him. He expects to match the latter against the present crack trotter of the Pacific coast, Romero. He wants to trot a race before Christmas.

Court Martial.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

A naval court martial meets at Mare Island, Cal., Nov. 14, for which the following is the detail: Capt. Chas. S. Norton, President; Lieut. Commanders John J. Boyce, Benj. S. Richards, Jas. D. Adams, and Thos. S. Phelps, and Master John B. Boyer, members of the board, with Lieut. C. S. Richman as Judge Advocate.

Confederate Bonds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

The Tribune says the election has at least caused no shrinkage in the value of bonds issued by the late confederacy. In San Francisco yesterday Confederate State bonds sold at $1.50 per $1,000.

—Anthony Trollope is rather worse this morning.

—A storehouse burned at Toronto, Canada, to-day. Loss $100,000.

—It is rumored that King Charles of Roumania has threatened to abdicate.

—Ex-Secretary Blaine left Augusta, Maine, yesterday for Boston and New York.

—The Globe Rubber Company of Trenton, N. J., has failed. Liabilities $175,000.

—It is reported that the Under Secretaryship of Ireland has been offered to O'Connor.

On Trial For Murder.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.

The trial of Patrick Joyce on charge of being a participant in the massacre of the Joyce family at Masmtrausa, was continued before Judge Barry to-day. Another prisoner accused of murder turned informer, and the case seems likely to be fully made out. Philbin, the informer, gave evidence against the prisoners. He presented a sullen, dejected appearance and evidently had no sympathy with his own part in the prosecution. His testimony, nevertheless, confirmed the story already published, that ten men went to Joyce's house. He saw Patrick Joyce, the prisoner, enter the door. Witnesses then ran away, and as he fled he heard behind him from the house shouts of murder and screams for help.

An Assassin Sentenced.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.

Corrigan, charged with attempting to assassinate Justice Lawson, identified as Patrick Delaney, is sentenced to nine years penal servitude for highway robbery and attempting to shoot the policeman who captured him.

LONDON, Nov. 13.

The Daily News says: The attempt to connect the skulking ruffian who attacked Justice Lawson with the imprisonment of Mr. Gray is absurd. Judges are not popular with the class to which Delaney belongs, and it may turn out that he was the emissary of a secret society; but it is very probable that he is merely a habitual criminal with a general dislike of judges.

Killed With a Club.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 13.

The body of a Russian subject was to-day found lying in the street where he had been murdered. The body lay near the arsenal. It is believed the culprit was a native watchman, who has been arrested. In his possession was found a blood-covered bludgeon which has a piece of hair and brains of the victim upon it. The native denies his guilt, and his explanation of the presence of the weapon is disbelieved.

The Sultan Promoted.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.

The Sultan had a levee to celebrate the 1300th year of the Mohammedan calendar, which according to predictions of soothsayers, will give the world a new prophet of Islam. A new revelation made public by astrologers has assured the Sultan that he himself is Mahdi, or the new prophet of Islam. The celebration of the mystic solemnities is so universal that business is at a stand-still and the streets are given up to processions and religious festivities.

Egyptian Finances.

PARIS, Nov. 14.

The Figaro has a dispatch from Cairo which affirms that the Governments of England and France have entered into a definite agreement in regard to the control of the finances of Egypt. It says France has accepted the offer of England that the Presidency of the Public Debt Commission be given to France, as compensation for doing away with the present system of control. Other questions relating to organizing the finances of Egypt will be treated by these two governments in concert with other great powers of Europe. Of their approval Gladstone is said to believe he has already sufficient assurance.

Irish Protest Against Fox Hunting.

DUBLIN, Nov. 12.

Particulars received from Galway, where there has been such bad blood between the peasants and the proprietors and magistrates recently, give an account of an attack by the mob last Saturday on a party of huntmen. They stoned the riders, struck the resident magistrate with rocks, cheered for Parnell, Dillon and the Land League, and finally succeeded in driving the police, huntmen and soldiers in a body from the end of the cover. Eight arrests were effected. None were killed, but many were bruised badly.

The Austrian Riots.

VIENNA, Nov. 14.

The examination of persons arrested for participation in the late riots, shows they were chiefly the work of Socialists and anti-Jewish leaders. Twenty-five thousand bills with anti-Jewish inscriptions were seized by the police, who are preparing a list of implicated persons for expulsion from the country. Howarth, suspected of conspiracy, at whose house bombs, etc., were found on Saturday, has been released.

Collision At Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 14.

Captain Ludlow of the steamship Westphalia states that the steamer with which his vessel came into collision yesterday burned blue lights at her mast-head for two hours after the collision occurred, and that the crew would have had ample time to escape. He believes that they must have floated their boats and is confident that all will be heard from in course of time.

Parliamentary Matters.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

It was stated in the lobby of the Commons last night that Sir Stafford Northcote will not proceed with his motion to censure the government policy in Egypt. Also that Bourke will abandon his motion relative to the trial of Arabi Pasha. The government has agreed to discuss an amended motion of Yorke that a committee be appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the release of Irish members of Parliament imprisoned under the coercion act. Sexton, supported by Irish members, will make an address to the Crown, praying for the removal of Justice Lawson from the Bench.

Steamer Sunk, with All on Board.

LONDON, Nov. 14.

The Austrian ship Minerva reports that when going into Falmouth she passed a white boat carrying a red flag and having five men in it, twenty miles east of Beachy Head. This was nine hours after the Westphalia collision and it is supposed to be one of the missing boats.

The crew of the missing boat from the steamer Westphalia landed at New Haven and reports that the other steamer that collided with the Westphalia went to the bottom, with all on board.

President Grevy Ill.

PARIS, Nov. 15.

President Grevy has been seized with a sudden illness. He had two attacks of a rush of blood to the brain, caused principally by indigestion. Excitement in official and political circles is intense, and the situation in government circles is still further complicated by this unexpected factor. President Grevy's resignation, which has been foreshadowed by certain papers, may be expedited by his illness.

England and Germany.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.

The Post, in an article directed against the French Government, says it was possible for England to raise a coalition against Germany and for Germany to excite a union against England; but experience shows that Germany never opposes England, and England never opposes Germany.

French Items.

PARIS, Nov. 14.

The trial of the directors of the Union Generale bank has been set for Dec. 5.

Royalists are urging Count De Chambord to issue a manifesto regarding the next election in Orleans. Prince Napoleon has been consulted in the matter.

John Bull Looks Out for His Coin. LONDON, Nov. 15.

The Standard's Constantinople dispatch says the English government has informed the Porte of the stoppage of payment of surplus revenue at Cyprus in order to cover the interest debt on the guaranteed loan of 1855 and ransom paid Salonica brigands for English subjects.

German Items.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.

The Upper Chamber of the Prussian Parliament has re-elected the Duke of Ratibon President, and Count Von Arnim and Prof. Bessler Vice Presidents. It is reported that the Russian Government has decided to withdraw all embassies and legations in Germany, excepting Berlin and Stuttgart.

Sentenced to Death.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.

The jury in the Patrick Joyce case, for the murder of the Joyce family at Cong, returned a verdict this morning of guilty. Judge Barry sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on December 15.

English Cabinet Changes.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

It is reported that Gladstone will resign the Chancellorship of the Exchequer; also that Sir Hugh Childers will leave the War Office for the Exchequer, the Earl of Northbrook taking the War Office.

A Lost Man.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.

A partially insane man, supposed, from papers on his person to be Theodore Russell of Lynn, Massachusetts, was found in the little town of Foreston, Missouri, yesterday morning, wandering through the streets. It is supposed that he jumped or fell from a passing train the night before, as he was only partly dressed and considerably bruised. He had passes for San Francisco.

Honors to a Chinaman.

To-morrow the locomotive works and other establishments will be visited, and Thursday the Pennsylvania road places a special train at the service of the party for a trip to Altoona and Johnstown, where the company's works will be inspected.

A Baggage Robber Pulled.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 15.

Frank Lucas, employed in the Union depot here, was arrested yesterday for robbing baggage. A large amount of jewelry and other valuable articles were found in his possession. He is believed to be at the head of a baggage-plundering gang that has operated extensively at Dallas and other places.

Postal Law.

A late postal law says: "No man, woman or child will be allowed to receive another's mail outside their own families, without a written order sent by the parties wishing the mail."

The dead body of an unknown sailor floated ashore at Pescadero, Cal., last Sunday morning.

WESTERN TELEGRAMS.

Buckskin Frank Kills Billy the Kid.

William Claiborne, alias "Billy the Kid," was shot and instantly killed this morning at the Oriental saloon, in this city, by Frank Leslie, alias "Buckskin Frank." The parties quarreled, when the Kid armed himself with a Winchester rifle, and returning to the saloon waited outside for the appearance of Leslie. As the latter emerged from the door the Kid opened fire at a distance of fifteen feet and missed. Leslie drew his revolver, and returning the fire shot the Kid through the body, mortally wounding him. He lived half an hour after being shot. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Both parties have heretofore killed their man.

The Yellow Fever Weakening.

PENSACOLA, Nov. 15.

It is a bright, clear day after a morning frost. There are comparatively no new cases of yellow fever and no deaths—the first time this report has been made since September 2d, and general joy prevails at the reasonable assurance that the epidemic is over. There is a report that the too early return of absentees furnishes fresh food for the fever. The authorities of Montgomery have so modified their quarantine as to permit the passage of a lady from Oatfield, near Pensacola, to Atlanta. There is much desire for the speedy removal of all restriction upon travel.

The Cassiar Mines.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.

The population of the mining region of Cassiar has been smaller this year than usual, but the output per man has been much better. During the past season there have been about 330 men employed in the mines, the amount taken out ranging from $150,000 to $175,000. There were left in the mines about 75 white men and 50 Chinamen, who would work at intervals during the winter. The outlook for the next year is fully equal to that of the present year, and may turn out somewhat better.

Suicide by Hanging.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.

Henrietta Hildebrandt, employed as a domestic at No. 1,323 Mission street, was found hanging to a clothes-horse on the premises this afternoon. Cause, whisky.

Compelling an old Miser to Pledge—A Dirty Octogenarian.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 13.

For twenty years Edward Holroyd has lived in what was once a beautiful residence on East Walnut Hills. In 1899 he was a partner of John Shillito. A quarter of a century ago came the first difference between man and wife. With fast accumulating wealth he acquired greed for more, and in an effort to obtain possession of his wife's property he brought on a quarrel. She still lives only a short distance from her former home, but her husband cut off all communication with the outer world. Once a day from that time on until now a man came with a supply of provisions and the mail, depositing them inside the door, finding there at the same time money for the supplies of the day. He never saw his patron. Four times in each year he was visited by his agent, whom he would meet outside the dwelling, and there receiving briefly his reports, would issue necessary orders and then retire to his residence. Soured by age, the man became a hypochondriac. Among the ignorant, stories were current that his house teemed with wealth. Friday night enterprising burglars forced a shutter, and going upstairs broke open the door of his sleeping room and dragged the old man from his bed. There were four intruders, three masked; the fourth, a large, heavy man, standing back and giving orders. Demands for money brought no reply, as the victim was speechless from fright. Blows were next resorted to, and finally they dragged him through the house, believing that when he reached the apartment where was hidden his treasure he would indicate it by pantomime, if he could not speak. From one place he produced a pocket-book containing $5. Dragging him on, they stopped in one of the lower rooms. Resolved on fresh torture, the large man, placing his heavy heel on one of the Holroyd's bare feet, gave a twist that wrenched the large toe nail from its place. Then the men were told to go to a closet facing them and look in a wooden box that was on a shelf. In this receptacle under many rags, they found five $1,000 Government bonds which had lain there for 20 years, the interest as yet untouched, worth now over $180,000 and $300 in money. Having taken all he hoped they would now go away; but he was disappointed. Procuring newspapers they lighted them and singed his body for further extortion, but without avail. Giving him a final beating, they started on a ransacking tour and made a good search. Saturday afternoon a neighbor saw a window opened in the old man's house. This was so unusual that an investigation was made. A lieutenant of police visited the place, forced open a window and made his way to his room. Desolation was everywhere. Old rags, dirt and all kinds of filth were in every room. Until the night previous no living man save the burglars had been there for 25 years. On an old-fashioned four-posted bed lay the miser with a greasy quilt drawn up to his chin. Drawing off the cover to examine his injuries, one of the dirtiest shirts ever worn by mortal man was exposed. Originally white, it was now a cobweb gray with dirt, and looked indeed as if soaked in cold gray. Its thickness with grease made it cling to his body as if molded on. Proffers of aid were refused, and he was left to his memories and solitude. Holroyd is about 80 years old, and is worth from $100,000 to $150,000. He is liable to die from the injuries received.

The California Wool Business.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.

Many of the importers of California wool readily admit that the supply from that State will gradually get less, and that adjacent territories will take away much of her trade in this respect. Conversation with some of the brokers and importers sustain the belief that the California wool trade has been at its best. James Lynch, whose knowledge of the wool business is conceded by the trade generally, said: "I think this year's California crop will be 15,000,000 pounds less than last year. The trade is being driven away from there into the Territories, where better pasturage can be found, and where they can make more money by wool growing. All wools from that State are fine. My idea is that the growing of this product in California is giving way to the adjacent territories. That State, however, has done a magnificent business, and figures give some idea of the shipments overland to the East; those to the interior and by sea during last month amounting to 25,403,918 pounds. I might say, however, that the character of the wool is dirtier this year, and in my judgment contains about a two-thirds dirt. This, as you see, is a considerable item of freight."

Mr. Mason, of the firm of Samuel Thompson & Co., said: "Wools from California have been growing finer every year and consequently much heavier. This fall crop, in my judgment, will turn out a third less than last year; but I should think that in all probability the total year's clip will amount to not far short of 40,000,000 pounds. Last year's production was about 48,200,000 pounds. From loss of sheep and driving from California into neighboring territories I estimate that the amount mentioned—40,000,000 pounds—would be an outside calculation of the production of 1893. There will probably be a million to a million and a half pounds short in southern California.

The falling off was caused by the drouth a year ago. A great many sheep were then starved to death, and those that remained were driven to better pasture. This, of course, applies to Southern California. In the north they were more fortunate. It is important to observe that even last Spring wools in some of the northern section, where they have been in the habit of giving us excellent grades, have been found scabby. From 50 to 80 per cent. of dirt comes in this production. It is my firm opinion that California wool-raising has seen its day."

A Mother Perishes in a Burning Building While Trying to Save Her Children.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10.

The residence of John Hepter, of Graytown, Dauphin county, was destroyed by fire last night. Hepter is one of the wealthiest farmers in Williamstown Valley. He was called from home yesterday. The other members of the family, Mrs. Hepter and six children, the eldest not being over 13 years of age, retired earlier than usual last night. Mrs. Hepter was awakened by the loud crackling of flames. Rushing from her bed-room she beheld the entire lower portion of the house enveloped in flames. Returning to her room she hastily picked up two of the children and succeeded in getting them out. Two more were also saved, badly burned from passing through the flames. The third trip was less successful. She was forced to leave the house with only one of the two remaining children, which she placed beyond danger. For the fourth time the brave mother entered the burning building, but before rescuing the sixth child, a little girl, the youngest of the family, her escape was cut off and they perished. Their charred remains were found locked in each other's arms.

The Jeannette Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.

Melville's testimony before the Jeannette Board this morning was a continuation of the account of the trip after leaving the vessel, and included an account of the separation on the last night they were together. His boat was a faster sailer than the others, but he had orders to keep astern of De Long's boat. On this occasion, however, he had in running with storm and sea got ahead. He saw De Long making signals to them to stop and he attempted to do so, lowering the sails of the boat. This, however, caused waves to dash in. DeLong made another gesture which he understood to mean to go on and not risk swamping the boat by stopping. He therefore hoisted the sails and went on, and soon passed out of sight of the other boats, never seeing any of their occupants again until he found DeLong's party dead on the Lena delta; and after sailing for some time out of sight of the others he remarked to Danenhower, who sat beside him, that he thought they ought to heave to and wait for the others to come up. Danenhower replied: "Yes, Melville. She ought to have been hove to before this." They made a drag and after much trouble hove to and drifted until the storm ended next day, when they again made sail for the coast. This is the first statement from any person that Danenhower thought they ought to have stopped the boat soon after the separation occurred.

Soldiers' Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.

Pension Commissioner Durley in preparing the tables for his annual report, has made the discovery that there are 100,000 ex soldiers yet living in the United States who have never applied for pensions. These men are getting along in years, and disorders contracted in the service are manifesting themselves in pensionable disabilities. The prevalent idea that the pension rolls should be decreasing at this time he thinks erroneous. They are, on the contrary, likely to increase for some years. The annual amount for current payments is now about $55,000,000, exclusive of arrears. The Commissioner has information that petitions are now in circulation praying Congress to pass an arrears of pension bill. Applicants whose claims have been filed for the first time within the last two years are not entitled, under existing laws, to arrears. The proposition is to have all limits and restrictions removed so that a pensioner whose claim has been established, or who shall hereafter make a claim and prove it, shall be entitled to back pension. This is one of the problems with which the next Democratic Congress will have to wrestle. It may upset the numerous plans now being made for a reduction of taxation, from which so much is hoped in aid of the Democratic cause.

Railroad Matters.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 13.

A branch of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad is completed to Van Buren, five miles from Fort Smith, and will be open for business Tuesday.

The Eagle Pass branch of the Sunset railroad was finished to Eagle Pass on the Rio Grande yesterday. A large depot will be erected there immediately. Depositions are being taken here in the suit of the Denver & New Orleans railway against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, to compel the latter company to make and maintain close business relations with the former against its will.

E. W. Warfield, Supt. of the Railway Mail Service, left here to-day for San Francisco, where he will meet other gentlemen connected with the post office, and examine into the needs of the mail service on the Pacific coast and perfect arrangements for a better service between the Pacific and Atlantic seaboard. Mr. Warfield will go out by the Southern road and investigate postal matters along the line.

Arctic Sufferings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

In the Jeannette Court of Inquiry this morning Melville continued his narrative, relating an account of the trip after the parties left the ship. The account covered the first three days of the trip, during which time he was in charge of the labor party, while Danenhower had charge of the sick. The scene in the court room this afternoon was rather dramatic. A number of the lady friends of Lieutenant Chipp were in attendance. During Melville's account of the sufferings of the party he narrated an incident in which Chipp, losing his strength and courage, threw himself down on a sledge and besought the party to go on without him, saying it was no use for him to struggle on further. Melville was somewhat affected as he related the incident, while the lady relatives of Lieutenant Chipp burst into tears and, finding themselves unable to listen further calmly to the account of his sufferings, left the room.

The Comet at Sea.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

The captain of the brig Letitia, arrived to-day from Miraflores, reports that on Sept. 21st, when near St. Marc, Hayti, a large comet of great brilliancy was seen bearing east by south, and visible some time after the sun rose. The captain says the comet has been visible in Hayti, sometimes very large and brilliant. As he came northward it diminished in size and brightness and appeared moving in a more southerly direction. It was seen as late as 10 A. M. in the day at Hayti and appeared much larger than on his approach to New York. Many of the people in Hayti think their last days have come. After the comet last year they had small pox and lost upwards of 60,000 lives throughout the dominion. They always look upon a comet as a bad omen and are at a loss to know what trouble this will bring them.

The Next Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

The Times Washington correspondent, commenting on the election, says: More than half the faces will be new ones. Many prominent Republicans now in Congress will not be there, and there will be another speaker. There will be only one old face in the California delegation—that of Rosecrans, whose war record as set forth at length by himself in the Congressional Directory is much more conspicuous than his services on the floor of the House. Page's majority of 3,600 melts away, and the candidate he defeated in 1890 is one of the new members at large. Colorado will send back the impulsive, plain-spoken but popular Judge Bedford, who seems to have a strong hold upon his constituents whom he delights to serve. From Texas all will be Democrats except the famous reconstructed Ochiltree. The State will gain by being represented by the inimitable Ochiltree, who ran on a river and harbor platform, and whose imagination will have no equal on the floor of the House.

Harry George Speaks.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.

Henry George delivered a lecture to-night under the auspices of the Federal Labor Union. During the course of his remarks George called attention to the alarming growth in strength of railroad corporations, and recommended as the only practicable check threats of absorption of their property by the Government. In the results of the recent elections George saw a promise of a revulsion in popular feeling which would result in bringing forward great industrial and economic principles. Invitations to be present had been extended to the President and Cabinet, but none of them attended.

England and Egypt.

LONDON, Nov. 13.

Stafford Northcote will support the proposed vote of censure on the conduct of the Government in the disposition of Arabi Pasha. Lord Granville communicated to the French Government a note of Cherif Pasha announcing the abolition of European control on the ground that the control forms no part of the guarantees given the creditors of Egypt, and that the control is calculated to diminish the authority of the Khedive and offend the susceptibilities of native Egyptians, and has led to gross administrative abuses.

Death from Overwork.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

The Tribune's letter has the following paragraph: "The death of Simon-ton was largely due to overwork. He took few vacations, and those were consumed in business enterprises. He came back this year to his ranch in Napa County intending in the pure air and under the generous sun of California to regain his lost strength; but he was too late. His death, whatever learned name doctors give to it, was the result of the American passion for work at high pressure."

The Navy-Yard Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

Messrs. Coryell and Stearns, recently appointed civilian members of the Naval Advisory Board, will arrive here on Monday next and attend a meeting of the full Board of the Commission to examine navy yards, for the purpose of deciding whether it is advisable to sell or close any. They have already examined yards in the East and expect to start soon for Mare Island. On their return the Commission will visit the Pensacola, League Island and New York yards. It is thought they will favor closing one or two yards temporarily.

What the "Tribune" Thinks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

The Tribune, in a long article to show the administration's secret support of the river and harbor bill, says: Page of California, Chairman of the Commerce Committee, has just been defeated in a district which had five times in succession honored him with election to Congress by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 6,000. It is a district which has given Republican majorities regularly for many years, doing so even in 1867, when Gorham, Republican candidate for Governor, was defeated by a large majority. Miles Ross of New Jersey represents a district which has failed to elect a Republican to Congress only once in twenty years. Too much river and harbor bill defeated Ross. Robeson represents another New Jersey district, one which has been uninterruptedly represented in Congress by Republicans ever since the birth of the Republican party, or more than a quarter of a century. The Democratic tidal wave of 1874 did not submerge this district any more than it did the one represented by Page. Only two years ago it gave Robeson a majority of 3,457 votes. It has just elected his Democratic opponent by a majority of nearly 2,000 votes. Robeson stood by the river and harbor grab to the last.

A Word for the Plute.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

General McDowell, in his final report to the War Department, says that there are at this time no hostile Indians anywhere in the department. He calls particular attention of the War and Interior Departments to the case of certain Plute Indians who were taken away from their tribe and homes and carried to an Indian reservation, among a strange people. He says their return to their tribe and homes should not be considered a question of administration, of convenience, or of economy, but a matter of good faith and mercy.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

OMAHA, Nov. 10.

The Wabash train from St. Louis was ditched at an early hour this morning between Stanberry and McCurry, and the Pacific Express messenger, Harry A. Groves, was killed by a safe being thrown on him. He leaves a wife and two children in St. Louis. A brakeman, name not learned, was seriously hurt. No others injured.

An Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.

An important ruling was made to-day by Commissioner McFarland that will establish a precedent. It reads: "In case of simultaneous applications for timber culture entry of a tract in the same section, Registers and Receivers are instructed to sell the right of entry to the highest bidder, as in homestead cases."

A Threatened Railroad War.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 13.

Nearly 1,000 armed men have been stationed at the point of the crossing of the West Shore and the Chenango Valley Railroads, and the latter has run two engines on the disputed point. A large number of extra policemen have been sworn in, and there is a strong probability of bloody work before noon.

Of Interest to Stock Men.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

Acting Secretary Joslyn of the Interior Department rendered a decision to-day in which he holds that land entries made for grazing purposes do not constitute residence.

Cleveland's Majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.

Latest returns make Cleveland's majority 196,413, the strong Republican county of Onondaga being taken away from the Republicans.

Marriage in High Life.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.

It is stated that ex-Vice-President Wheeler will shortly marry Mrs. Woodruff of Chicago, widow of the late supervising Surgeon-General.

Horses Bound West.

OMAHA, Nov. 12.

O. A. Hickok passed through Omaha to-day for San Francisco with St. Julien and Overman, and two other horses belonging to Mr. Mackey, and also seven horses for breeding purposes. He will rest one day at Cheyenne.

Rum Did It.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 12.

Thomas Kennedy was fatally stabbed by Michael Doncey during a quarrel growing out of the refusal of Kennedy and two others to pay for liquor which they had ordered.

Bennett's New Toy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

The Sun, in a weekly review of Wall street affairs, has the following concerning James Gordon Bennett's new cable scheme, the making and laying of the cable to cost $2,300,000, of which Bennett subscribed $1,000,000, and promises another $1,000,000 if a second cable is necessary; the total capital to be raised to $5,000,000. The cable will be worked in connection with the Baltimore & Ohio telegraphic system, and the Herald advises Western newspapers not to make any contracts with the Western Union until Bennett is ready to serve them on philanthropic principles with his new toy. But it is hard to see how Bennett can offer anything like the facilities which the Western Union now gives to its customers all over the continent. Apart from that, there is some doubt in the minds of conservative business men whether he will persist in his new crotchets, and whether his present passion for cabling may not evaporate as his love for polo, etc.

The "Herald" on the Chinese Problem.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.

The Herald has the following editorial: Our special dispatches from San Francisco report a demagogical attempt of the Collector of that port to exclude all Chinamen whatever from landing there, whether they are merchants or all laborers; but Judge Hoffman is not a demagogue, and when the case was brought before the U. S. District Court, the Collector was frustrated and rebuked, as he deserved to be. The fact, however, that the chief officer of the Federal revenue service on the Pacific coast should volunteer to put a gloss of his own upon the Chinese immigration statute, with the design of increasing its stringency, is significant of the spirit of the community to which he panders. Being a politician, he probably counts the rebuke of the court as of slight moment in comparison with the increase of popularity he has gained among the hoodlums. It deserves remark that the Chinese question is rapidly approaching a new phase of which New York merchants will do well to take timely warning. Pacific coast politicians, having bulldozed the Federal Government so successfully in the matter of Chinese immigration, are working themselves up to demand supplementary legislation of a prohibitory character at no distant day in the matter of Chinese labor. They asked Congress to forbid the importation of Chinese labor in 38 States in order to protect three of them—California, Nevada and Oregon, whose united population is less than that of this city—from its competition on American soil, and Congress yielded to the request and has shut Chinese laborers out of New York because they are unwelcome in San Francisco. Now they are growing fearful that the excluded Chinamen will soon become successful competitors, although restricted to working on Asiatic soil, and accordingly they are preparing to petition Congress further to shut Chinese manufacturers out of the whole country, New York included. San Francisco newspapers are looking forward to the time when Chinamen at home will manufacture for themselves, and so cheap that they will not only supply their own markets but ours as well, unless Congress comes to the rescue with their customs duties which will eclipse the most extraordinary provisions of the present tariff.

The President Out of Sorts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.

The President is very much out of sorts. One of his minor ills is a letter addressed by two Massachusetts Senators to Secretary Folger giving collector Worthington a severe hauling over the coals for helping Democrats to elect their Governor. The relations of Worthington and his newspaper to Butler are such that the truth of the charge is highly probable. Another letter, more irritating to the President, because more personal, is from Messrs. Herrick, Kerr and Bliss in regard to ex-Senator Spencer. During the star route trial the government counsel, it is well known, sent the President a letter setting forth that Spencer, a government official, was wanted as a government witness, but could not be found, and was conferring a great favor on the defense by keeping out of sight. No attention has been paid to the letter. The time for the second trial draws near and Spencer has not yet been found. He is wanted very much. The government counsel sent another letter to the President, calling his attention to all the facts in Spencer's case. Of course, the President does not exactly like to have his attention called to the matter. It intimates that he wants to protect Dorsey. Now, the President wants every violator of the law punished, but he is not very anxious to see a useful Republican statesman, secretary of the National Committee, the man whom he has trusted as the savior of Indiana, behind the bars of a prison.

His Last Kiss.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

Henry Kuhn, aged twenty, of Brooklyn, attempted to kiss Barbara Dueshlein, aged sixteen, last Sunday evening. Her companion named George Grover, aged nineteen, tried to stop him. Kuhn became enraged and struck Grover. They clutched, and Kuhn was thrown heavily, his head striking the curb-stone. Kuhn died, and Grover has been arrested.
